Reduction of 40 Per Cent In New Tax Goal Proposed By Taber in Economy Move

New Yorker, Spearheading Republican Drive To Emphasize Economy, Would Curtail Government Expenditures by $4,158,000,000 and Levy Ten per Cent Retail Sales Tax

By HOWARD FLIEGER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—A 40 per cent reduction in the administration's $10,500,000,000 new tax goal, through a $4,158,000,000 curtailment in government expenditures, was proposed today by Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.), spearheading a Republican drive to emphasize economy in writing any new tax legislation.

"The time has come for the Congress to stop, look and listen if we are to avoid national bankruptcy and economic chaos," said Taber, ranking minority member of the House Appropriations committee. "The president being without practical business experience may not realize the seriousness of a situation."

Taber reiterated his personal belief that the country needed a ten per cent federal retail sales tax, which he said "would have a greater effect than any other means of curbing inflation."

Taber called a press conference at which he said he had found ways to save over $4,000,000,000 and which could be made much greater by competent management. He said that on the record of the first three months it appears the government will spend this year only $10,000,000,000, which is $15,000,000,000 below the estimate made by President Roosevelt in his budget message. Taber listed specific savings which he said could be effected in fiscal year 1945.

The $10,500,000,000 treasury program, featuring greatly increased income taxes and other levies, was submitted to the House Ways and Means committee yesterday, and received such a chilly reception that it was considered as good as killed in its present form.

The New York Board of Trade appeared before the committee today and urged a ten per cent sales tax.

Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson, meanwhile, delayed until tomorrow his appearance at the committee's tax hearing, apparently to gather additional ammunition to support of the administration's position that the $10,500,000,000 tax bill—mostly in income and excise taxes—is needed to finance the war and stave off inflation.

Some Sentiment for Tax

Some committee sentiment for a sales tax appeared in the questions members shot at M. L. Seidman, chairman of the board of trade's tax committee, as he presented the proposal. Two lawmakers—Sen. Bird (D-Va.) and Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.)—have advocated a sales tax in public statements but Randolph Paul, a treasury tax expert, opposed it yesterday as more trouble than it's worth.

Seidman said a ten per cent sales tax would bring in about $6,000,000,000 revenue a year as painlessly as any tax can be collected. He proposed to couple with it a tax incentive plan for bond buying as a means of siphoning off excess earnings which he described as an "ever increasing stimulant to inflation."

"Don't you think most opposition to a sales tax comes from a fear that the government—once it learns how easy it is—will want to con-

Red Army Takes 46 More Towns in Vitebsk Sector

Push within 30 Miles of Nazi Stronghold, 110 Miles from Frontier

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON, Wednesday, Oct. 6 (AP)—Keeping its initiative in White Russia alive despite mud and the Germans, the Red army yesterday overran forty-six populated places in the Vitebsk sector and pushed to within thirty miles of that Nazi stronghold which is itself 110 miles from the Latvian frontier, the Moscow radio announced early today.

In the midnight communiqué, recorded here by the Soviet Monitor, the Russians mentioned only guerrilla activities south of Gomel. Berlin nervously indicated that the Russians were moving troops at both ends of the front—around Lake Ilmen, far to the north, and at the southern end of the line just north of the Sea of Azov.

Kolishki Is Captured

In the Vitebsk advance, Kolishki, thirty miles east of the city, was among the points captured. Speaking of this action the communiqué said: "The Germans launched several counterattacks, but were thrown back."

The war bulletin listed more than 1,150 Germans killed in two engagements near Vitebsk and Gomel.

There was a fresh hint in the communiqué's announcement that four enemy troop-laden landing barges had been sunk by aircraft of the Soviet Black sea fleet that the Germans were pulling out of their slim foothold on the Taman peninsula, or even withdrawing some forces from the Crimea.

Reporting on air activity, the communiqué said that fliers of one unit silenced sixteen artillery batteries, destroyed seventy trucks with war supplies and dispersed about a battalion of German infantry.

Declaring that Red army troops in the Gomel area of the front had captured an important line, the communiqué detailed that the Germans were frustrated in five local attacks designed to restore the position.

On Monday, the communiqué said, Russian troops on all fronts destroyed or disabled fifty-three German tanks while forty-eight enemy planes were brought down in air combat or by anti-aircraft fire.

Germans Counterattacked

Moscow dispatches said that strong German counterattacks were increasing over wide sectors, but it was not clear whether this Nazi action and current rains had caused the Soviet drive to stop, or whether it had been ended first by Soviet design, with the German counterattacks coming as a result.

In any case, there were indications that the Red army might be

R.A.F. Bombers Give Frankfurt Heavy Pounding

City Is Torn and Shaken by Second Raid in Twelve Hours

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Strong forces of RAF bombers punched at least six German industrial cities last night in a fourth successive night of furious aerial onslaught and left the big city of Frankfurt torn and shaken by its second raid in twelve hours, and its heaviest of the war.

Frankfurt and Ludwigshafen were the only cities specifically mentioned in the official British report of the night's operation, which also spoke of the Rhineland in general, but the sorely beset Nazis in a communiqué filled in the details: they acknowledged heavy destruction to Frankfurt and said Mannheim (Ludwigshafen's twin city), Worms, Offenbach and Saarbrücken were also raided by "terror" bombers.

Use 500 Tons of Explosives

More than 500 tons of high explosives were unloaded on Frankfurt, motor, chemical and rubber city of half a million persons, which, in the daylight preceding the RAF attack, was subjected to a precision bombing by American Fortresses, which aimed at the city's important airplane works.

A second force of Lancaster bombers hit Ludwigshafen, across the Rhine from Mannheim and site of the I. G. Farbenindustrie chemical plant—the world's largest—stretching for three miles along the river. As terminus of Rhine navigation the twin cities constitute the largest inland port in Europe.

Frankfurt is located on the Main only a few miles northeast of its confluence with the Rhine, while Ludwigshafen is about fifty miles due south. Offenbach lies five miles east of Frankfurt and Worms is another Rhine port about twenty miles north of Ludwigshafen.

Saarbrücken is located close to Saarbrücken, capital of the Saar, and steel region and has been bombed repeatedly with raids on Saarbrücken.

Twelve British planes were lost from all of last night's operations, which included Mosquito attacks on objectives in northwest Germany. Together with losses for raids on the three previous nights, the average loss for the RAF stands at only twelve per night.

Sixtieth Raid on Ludwigshafen

It was the sixtieth raid on Ludwigshafen and the thirty-eighth on Frankfurt. Both cities are between 400 and 500 miles by bomber flight from Britain.

While British-based planes continued their campaign against the Reich important shifts in Allied aerial operations in the Mediterranean were announced in reports which said Liberators recently arrived from the Middle East now were operating with the Northwest

Four Jap Vessels Sunk without Shot

Three Old Destroyers, Converted to Minelayers, Are Heroes

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5 (AP)—

The story of a strange sea victory in which four ships of a Japanese task force were sunk without a shot having been fired, and while United States vessels were many miles away, was told by seamen here today.

The navy confirmed the bare details. Heroes of the victory were three old type, four-stack destroyers, veterans of World War I, no longer fit to engage in fast-striking, hard-hitting modern war, and converted to minelayers.

During the summer the navy had reason to believe the Japanese would try to reinforce holdings in the Solomon Islands. Minelayers were given charts of waters through which enemy convoys might pass. Mines were laid and the destroyers went about other business.

Then a Japanese task force ventured into the area. An explosion tore one ship apart and it sank. Japanese escort ships swarmed around, concluding a submarine had attacked. Another explosion sent a second ship to the bottom, and as the enemy ships tried evasion tactics, others were blown up.

Aerial reconnaissance the next day disclosed that four Japanese ships had been sunk, and that probably several others met the same fate.

The old destroyers now proudly bear four little Nipponese flags on their sides.

ALLIES MAKE GAINS ON NAZIS IN DRIVE ON ROME

IN A SURPRISE LANDING at Termoli, 48 miles northeast of Foggia, British Eighth Army troops have scored a spectacular seventeen-mile advance up the coast of eastern Italy toward Rome while the American Fifth Army seized Benevento and established footholds on the northern shore of the Colure river. Present Allied activity threatens the inland flank of German defensive positions along the Volturno river, which flows into the Colure several miles west of Benevento.

BILL WOULD BAR DRAFT-AGE SINGLE MEN FROM FEDERAL JOBS

Amendment, Substitute for Wheeler Bill, Would Postpone Draft of Fathers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—

A proposal to bar federal employment to draft-age, able-bodied non-fathers whose service are not "indispensable" was offered in the Senate today with administration support as a substitute for the Wheeler bill to postpone the drafting of fathers until January.

Senator Bailey (D-NC), in behalf of himself and Senator Clark (D-Mo), submitted the proposal in an amendment which embraced two other provisions. They would require:

1. That, insofar as it is "practicable," local draft boards defer the induction of Pearl Harbor Harbor fathers until men in all other selective service categories have taken. Married men with one child also would be taken before those with two or more.

2. A review by draft appeal boards of occupational deferments granted by local draft boards in communities where war plants are located.

Such reviews, subject to appeal to the national director of selective service, would be required within thirty days.

Action on the proposal, which Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) contended was largely a restatement of present selective service regulations, was deferred until tomorrow upon the request of Minority Leader McNary of Oregon for more time to study it.

As the Senate focused its attention on the father draft, the House Ways and Means committee received from the New York Board of Trade a proposal for a federal sales tax of ten per cent as a possible substitute for the Treasury's plan to raise additional taxes.

Other developments in Washington included:

President Roosevelt declared the Japanese showed they were uncivilized by behaving an Allied aviator in the Southwest Pacific. He said

Hospital Workers To Get Pay Boost

Payment of Overtime Wages at State Institutions Authorized

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 5 (AP)—

The Board of Public Works and Governor O'Connor today authorized the payment of overtime wages to attendants at the state's five mental hospitals, in an effort to alleviate the serious labor shortage at the institutions.

Attendants at Crownsville, Eastern Shore State, Springfield, Rosewood and Spring Grove hospitals who are "required to work sixty hours or more in a six-day week will be given straight overtime pay to a maximum of twelve hours a week, calculated on the salary standards base pay," the governor explained.

At a hearing before the Maryland Legislative Council last week Dr. George Preston, commissioner of mental hygiene for the state, said that attendants at present were receiving approximately $65 per month for a 60-72 hours work week.

The total drop in employees working at the mental hospitals has amounted to about 225, Dr. Preston added, and the commissioner urged the state administration to "do everything in its power" to obtain workers for the hospitals.

The only action which O'Connor and the Board of Public Works were able to take, the governor stated, was the granting of overtime pay since the manpower shortage is

Committee Favors Higher Payments To Children

First Child of Service Men Would Receive $22 Monthly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—

Higher payments to children of enlisted service men were approved today by a House Military subcommittee which also decided that payments should be made to the husband of a WAC, WAVE or other woman in service if he has been dependent on his wife.

The group agreed that payments to a wife should remain at $50 a month, the same she now receives. Under its schedule, however, the first child would be given $22 monthly compared with $12 now and $18 recommended by the Senate. For the second child there would be a monthly payment of $18, with $16 more for each additional child. Existing law provides $10 for all children in excess of one. The Senate last July voted to boost the amount to $11, a figure the House group held was inadequate in view of current living costs.

The group's recommendation will be submitted tomorrow to the full military committee, with approval generally expected.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Sparkman (D-Ala.), voted also to make dependents of service men of all seven enlisted grades eligible

Bishop Tucker May Retain Post

Action on Retirement Age Limits Taken at Episcopal Meeting

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5 (AP)—Retention of the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, of Richmond, Va., as presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States for another three years was anticipated by some church leaders tonight following action on retirement age limits.

Also mentioned at the church's fifty-fourth triennial convention as candidates for the highest office were Bishops Henry Knox Sherrill of Massachusetts; Robert E. Strider of West Virginia; Frank W. Creighton of Michigan; and W. Bertrand Stevens, of Los Angeles.

Bishop Tucker, 69, would retire next Jan. 1 under existing canons. Today, however, the House of Bishops approved an amendment which would permit a presiding bishop to continue in office until the general convention following his seventieth birthday anniversary.

The proposed change needs concurrence of the House of Deputies to become effective.

The bishops' favorable vote of 58 to 19 on the amendment was viewed by some churchmen as an indication Bishop Tucker would be retained in the office to which he was named six years ago at Cincinnati.

One bishop, the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Pesbody, of Central New York, described the amendment as "personal legislation."

"This is a move along the lines of which we have had evidence before

Is Overcoming Stiffer Nazi Resistance; Two Airfields Are Captured

British Eighth Army Is Going Ahead More Rapidly up Adriatic Coast in the Direction of Pescara Where Main Lateral Road to Rome Joins with Coastal Road; Airmen Are Busy

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGERIA, Oct. 5 (AP)—The American Fifth and the British Eighth armies pushed ahead toward the battle of Rome today against a sharply resisting German force officially estimated tonight to contain from four to five divisions.

(Such a force presumably would number from 60,000 to 75,000 men.)

On the Italian West coast the Americans, supported by British armor, were methodically wiping out Nazi pockets of resistance left to impede their progress a short distance north of Naples.

On the Adriatic coast Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's army, aided by new landings from the sea at Termoli, was going ahead more rapidly in the direction of Pescara, where the main lateral road from Rome joins with the coastal road.

In the central sector the Americans drove into Montesarchio in the mountains southwest of Benevento in extension of a flanking movement designed to threaten any stand the Germans may attempt to make on the banks of the Volturno river twenty miles north of Naples.

Take Important Airfields

The advance north of Naples, while not great in distance covered, has nevertheless resulted in the occupation of two of the most important airfields in Southern Italy, Pomigliano d'Arco and Capodichino, it was announced today.

The former is eight miles northeast of Naples and adjacent to it is the Alfa Romeo aircraft and engine works. Capodichino is three miles outside Naples. Both fields have been used by the Germans, especially for troop-carrying transport planes.

In extensive operations yesterday the North African air forces not only backed up the ground forces by hammering at the enemy in the front area and dealing blows at the rear area of communications as far away as Pisa and Bolzano near the Brenner Pass, but they also aided in the battle of the Dodecanese by striking at fields in Greece which the Germans have been using for operations against Coo.

(The Berlin radio, in a broadcast recorded by Reuters, quoted a DNB dispatch as saying that United States four-engine bombers were engaged over Greece by German fighter planes today (Tuesday) and that seven of the American bombers were shot down.)

Other bombers from the Middle East also attacked air fields in Greece, and RAF Beaufighters of that command went at enemy formations and vehicles on the island of Coo with cannon fire.

Gen. Henri Giraud tonight formally announced the liberation of Corsica, issuing an order of the day to troops participating in the success and declaring it was a prelude to tomorrow's victory in France.

Corsica gives the Allies a new potential air base closer to vital targets in Eastern Germany than any yet taken in Italy, and within fighter range of Southern France and the Genoa and Leghorn regions.

Pacific War Strategy Conference Held by Top Ranking Naval Men

HONOLULU, Oct. 4 (Delayed) (AP)—A Pacific war strategy conference has been held at Pacific fleet headquarters here among the three top ranking navy commanders, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet announced tonight.

Attending besides Admiral Nimitz were Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States Fleet, and Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the South Pacific force of the fleet. It was the first meeting of the navy's Pacific war strategy conference since outbreak of the war.

The terse announcement disclosed that Admiral King and Halsey had returned to their headquarters after conferences at Pearl Harbor with Admiral Nimitz.

The first meeting of the navy's Pacific war strategy conference, with Admiral Nimitz and Halsey in the Pacific war theater undoubtedly shaped definite strategy for increasing the weight and tempo of offensive blows against Japan.

Roosevelt Terms Jap Retreat In Solomons New Blow to Enemy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt described the Japanese retreat from the Central Solomons today as a real defeat for the enemy, and declared it demonstrated Japanese weakness in the whole Solomon Island-New Guinea area.

The enemy retreat, he told his press-radio conference, was in line with the evacuation of Kiska in that it marked a withdrawal rather than a fight to the death as was Japanese policy earlier. As such, he said, it was a new blow to Japanese prestige and claims of invincibility.

Before discussing the Japanese, the president revived briefly the war in Italy. He said both the Fifth and Eighth armies were consolidating their positions and were making fairly good progress.

In considering the rate of progress, he said, it should be remembered that in the center, and to some extent on the right flank of the Anglo-American armies, there are mountain ranges rising 8,000 to 9,000 feet.

No one knows, he said, where the Nazis may attempt their next stand.

When he returned to the fighting in the South Pacific, the commander-in-chief made clear that he thought too little significance has been attached here at home to the blows which have been struck the Japanese.

American aviators have been destroying enemy barges day after day, he said, until great numbers have been sunk. (Press dispatches have reported the sinking of more than 100.)

These barges, Mr. Roosevelt added, are the sole means the Japanese have for large scale movement from island to island in that area and consequently their destruction greatly hampers the enemy's freedom to make offensive or defensive moves. Some escort craft also have been sunk, he said.

Three New Patents Granted Celanese

Three patents relating to the fire-proofing of textile materials were granted last week to Celanese Corporation of America.

According to United States Letters Patent No. 2,330,251 cellulose acetate or other organic derivative of cellulose textile material is impregnated with five to ten per cent of a halogenated alkyl ester of phosphorus—such as tri-monochloroethyl phosphate—by immersing the same in a bath containing said ester, a dispersing agent, pine oil and water for several hours at elevated temperatures.

This invention is particularly valuable for fire-proofing the pile portion of rugs.

United States Letters Patent No. 2,330,253 is directed to belting suitable for power transmission and conveyor belts. These belts are made of cotton and have incorporated therein cellulose acetate or other organic derivative of cellulose plasticized with five to eighty-five per cent of halogenated alkyl phosphate.

United States Letters Patent No. 2,330,254 is directed to cellulose acetate or other organic derivative of cellulose textile material having an improved hand and fire-resistant properties due to the incorporation therein of five to fifty per cent of trichloroethyl phosphate as the sole plasticizer and fire-retarding agent.

Six Episcopal Bishops Resign

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Protestant Episcopal Church's House of Bishops has accepted resignations of six diocesan bishops because of ill health or advanced age.

Those resigning, effective today, are Bishop Alexander Mann of Pittsburgh; Bishop Hunter Wyatt-Brown of Harrisburg, Pa.; Bishop E. T. Helfenstein of Maryland; Bishop George Allen Beecher of Western Nebraska; and Bishop Albert S. Thomas of South Carolina. The resignation of Bishop Frank A. McElwain of Minnesota was accepted as of Dec. 31 of this year. Successors to diocesan bishops are appointed at diocesan conventions.

New Residents Should File Declarations

CITIZENS who have taken up their residence in this city or county and who have not as yet arranged to secure their voting privilege should make such arrangement between now and November 6 in order to be enabled to cast their ballots in the election next year. It will be an important election and all good citizens should by all means perform their duty as such by taking part in it.

The advice applies chiefly to recent newcomers although it applies equally to some few who have been residing in the city or county for some time and who have been indifferent or neglectful or perhaps uninformed about the requirements in this particular.

There is a state law—an un-American statute that should be repealed—requiring all new Marylanders to record themselves officially as such one year in advance of any election in order to vote. It is known as the Declaration of Intentions law. The declaration gives notice that the citizen intends to become a resident of this state; and unless he does so, he will not be entitled to vote with the exception of those under age who become 21 while in residence here and who are automatically entitled to registration.

Persons desiring to file their declaration of intentions should do so by applying at the office of the clerk of courts of Allegany county, which is the first office to the right of the entrance of the court house. There is no fee.

All new residents who have not had their names placed upon the registration books should see to it that their precious right of suffrage is thus duly established. There is a whole month in which to do this for next year's election, but it would be well to look to this duty at once and not put it off for the reason that the expiration date may come along before one realizes it.

A Tax Brain Storm Is Quickly Ended

THE LATEST BRAIN STORM of the Treasury department's tax meddlers has properly been quelled by Chairman Doughton, of the House Ways and Means committee, in such prompt, vigorous and sensible manner that it has probably "died a bornin'" as an Associated Press dispatch has stated.

Doughton said a mouthful so far as the people are concerned when he declared that this bill, or anything like it, would never get anywhere for the simple but adequate reason that it carried entirely too big a burden for the taxpayers to hear at this time.

Some may have wondered why, in the face of the demand for so much more revenue, there should have been a proposal to repeal the Victory tax altogether (not just absorb it with the other tax). When that tax brought in some 9,000,000 more taxpayers of the lowest bracket it was heralded as a just and proper thing for everybody to share the big war burden and that, anyway, what the Victory taxpayers would pay would be so little that they could easily contribute. But now, what?

Huh! The answer is: Nine million votes, for which a pressing need appears to be felt.

The "Walkie-Talkie" As a Home Gadget

THE CURRENT SPECULATION in the public prints about the possibility of radio-telephone hookups, or even "walkie-talkies" for householders conjures a vision of an almost fantastic postwar world.

Some centuries-old problems of the mother and wife may even be permanently solved by the "walkie-talkie." When she puts the young heir out to play, Mother would only have to make sure that Johnny was equipped with his "walkie-talkie," then when she wanted to call him home all she would have to do would be to broadcast the command. Mother would be spared the necessity of shouting herself hoarse, which has been the way probably since time began.

Of course, if the set permitted two-way conversation, Johnny might carry on a long-distance argument with a certain amount of impunity since he would not give away his location unless Mother's set also included radar equipment which would locate the youngster immediately, no matter where he was.

The introduction of "walkie-talkie" in the American home would also take care of one of a wife's most vexing problems—how a husband can seemingly disappear into thin air just when dinner is ready. If he had a "walkie-talkie" on his person he could be summoned instantly. And, naturally, this idea could be reversed so that the hungry husband could remind his wife of his pangs if she should happen to stay at the bridge game too long.

Life just won't ever be the same, will it?

Newsprint and Its Future

ELBERT ANTRIM, assistant manager of the Chicago Tribune, declares that old newspapers can now be reprocessed into new newsprint. That has been impossible hitherto because of the impregnation of the black pigment of the printing inks, which could not be removed so as to make the reprocessed paper white. But Antrim says an English process patented in 1936 has been installed in several English mills "with complete success."

It is further averred by the Chicago executive that the federal government should permit a demonstration of the process, and he says that if it were allowed to proceed unhampered by government restrictions, a large part of the newsprint manufacturing industry would return to the United States.

But lifting of restrictions by the government would depend upon what could be lifted. If critical wartime materials are involved, it wouldn't be easy or possible. Meanwhile some encouragement should be given to the Horthy system of newsprint manufacture from southern slash pine. And it would be interesting to learn what has become of the Hostetter process by which paper is made from farm wastes.

Anything that will develop newsprint manufacture without the continued enormous use of timber usable for other purposes should be encouraged as rapidly as conditions will permit. It should be an important item of postwar planning.

Mysterious Discrimination

THE FAMILIAR NAVY SLOGAN, Join the Navy and See the World, doesn't hold good any more—at least as far as the women of the navy, the WAVES, are concerned.

A dispatch from Washington says the navy, acceding to strong Senate pressure, has dropped its support of legislation which would have permitted overseas assignment for the WAVES.

There are hundreds, perhaps thousands, of WAVES already overseas and doing a swell job, but the WAVES are limited to continental United States. Overseas assignments for WAVES were approved by Congress, but now opposition seems to be growing in the legislative body to making such assignments uniform for all women in service.

The women in the WAVES, SPARS and marines are all volunteers. They joined up to release men for active service. They're all doing that at home, but only the WAVES are doing it overseas. The army undoubtedly wants to send its WAVES where it needs them, and the navy quite clearly would like to do the same with the WAVES, SPARS and marines.

It seems that in all fairness Congress ought to accede to the wishes of the navy, or rescind its approval of overseas service for the WAVES.

When the R. A. F. gets through with Berlin the Nazi home guards there will, no doubt, be known as Der Fuehrer's shack troops.

A foreign correspondent writes that the Bey of Tunis lives "quietly with his twenty-five wives." Maybe the guy is deaf.

All patriotic Americans wear the Victory shirt. It's any kind—with the sleeves rolled up.

Sour Grapes Are Useful

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I'm a hungry fox sitting under a grape vine, eyeing so eagerly those purple bunches that hang beyond my reach.

I cannot touch them though I stand on two legs and stretch my paws so far, so far. Unless they fell of their own initiative into my waiting mouth, I shall never eat them. They are not for me. The birds may enjoy them but this hungry fox will never crush them, taste them, let the juice run down his dry throat.

So they are sour! . . . I would not like them even if I had them. They are beautiful but worthless. I would spit them out and make a wry face even if they did fall to me. They may be sweet to the birds, but that's only because the birds have no sense of taste. To me they are sour.

How fortunate that this hungry fox can so easily reject the joys he may not have. . . . What would he do, what would the rest of us do, if we could not disdain and scandalize the grapes that hang beyond our reach? How we would suffer!

But if we can change, with the magic of our envy, the things we cannot have, into sour and worthless and even poisonous possessions, how comfortable that is for us then. How softly we rest, how dreamless we sleep, what a comfort for us.

We can loaf, we can parasitize on life, we can waste our days, with never a pang of conscience, with never a twinge for what we might have been. We can be like the lad in the Browning poem who heard men praising another and said to himself: "I could paint pictures like that youth they praise so!" If he wanted to, if WE wanted to, but it's easier to say those grapes are green and sour.

Thus sour grapes are useful, and a tricky invention to save our pride and comfort our laziness and free us from deserved self-reproach—when we have surrendered what we ought to have done and have failed to do the very best we know.

Hitler Has Troops For Tough Battle South of Rome

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The Nazis have placed enough troops south of Rome to make us fight for every inch of our northward advance.

They have had about eight divisions around and south of the city. The bulk of this force has been digging in just north of Naples around Gaeta on the Mediterranean coast and selecting defensive positions across the peninsula to the Adriatic in such a way as to offer determined resistance along that line in a final fight for the Italian capital.

Paul Mallon

The main German army in Italy, however, has been kept north of the Apennine line in the region of the Po, suggesting that there Hitler intends to put up his best stand on Italian soil.

These placements betray the Nazis plans. They are not trying to face us with a superior force, but have schemed what the military men call "strong delaying actions" to impede us and keep us down to a plodding pace.

They could make a better fight of it by withdrawing planes and troops from Northern France and the lowlands, but, obviously, they are afraid of momentary invasion, and intend primarily to protect the homeland.

Dnieper Decision Soon

The next ten days should tell whether the Russians can break through the Dnieper line. Present condition of the battle suggests three widely separate points at which the Russians will might strike.

If they could cut across the Dnieper at the big bend (Dnepropetrovsk), they could threaten the whole southern German line and might cause the Nazis to withdraw not only from Melitopol, but all the way back beyond the mouth of the Dnieper river, this would leave the Germans practically crowded out of their Black sea shore positions.

The prospects that the Russians could smash the line at Kiev has been widely analyzed. But there is a third opportunity northward around Smolensk which has not drawn much attention.

There they could force the Germans back against the impenetrable Priest marshes and divide the German army north and south of that vast swamp, thus hindering their communications and weakening their ability to resist.

Any one of these three Russian successes would break the propaganda front which Goebbels has erected at home and should cause panic among the German people.

Rommel Game Unlikely

The German retreat strategy in Italy and Russia has sponsored some notion that Hitler is holding back the best portions of his large army for counterattacks as soon as Allied lines are advanced too far to be easily maintained.

Some authorities suspect him of playing the Rommel game of North Africa. There the Nazis retreated until the British were beyond their best supply radius before launching his major force.

This is possible but not probable. The plain explanation of German weakness is that our constant threat of direct invasion from England has pinned down a heavy quantity of German strength for the defense of that area.

Furthermore, our line of supplies can be just as easily maintained in Northern Italy as in the boot. Also it is hardly likely that the Russians will get beyond their defense.

Sparkling Strategy

Military men write of fluid defense, meaning mobile resistance. Our attack since the final stages of the North African drive has developed an even more sparkling strategy of war—fluid offense.

Our armies have shifted positions no less intricately than a Notre Dame backfield. Gen. Clark's army, for instance, landed south of Salerno and wound up in Central Italy, while the British armies from the heel and toe likewise have criss-crossed and fitted into positions behind and around him like vast puzzle pieces.

The same swift moving of armies in bewildering fashion was evident in Sicily and earlier in Tunisia where the Americans who were fighting on the right suddenly appeared on the left. The deception of these shifts has been heightened by amphibious flanking movements around to the German rear by sea, the latest having developed at Termoli on the Adriatic.

It is just possible we may outflank the coming Gaeta line and perhaps even Rome by landing at Civitavecchia and circling in from the coast to the German rear.

In the Interest Of Fair Play

From the Johnstown, Pa., Tribune

The resignation of Congressman Eugene E. Cox (Dem.) of Georgia as chairman of the House committee which has been investigating the Federal Communications Commission is in the interest of fair play. In permitting Cox to have charge of this probe the House of Representatives laid itself open to the sharpest criticism, for the congressman was a man with an ax to grind, having been charged by the FCC with accepting a $2,500 fee from a radio station for representing it in seeking a license from the commission.

Since the criminal code forbids a member of Congress to take money for representing a private client before a federal agency, it was to be expected that the House would institute an investigation of the charge. It did not do so.

It is reported that as the investigation proceeded Cox acted as both prosecutor and judge, a dual role decidedly unbecoming in one who had a grievance against the defendant.

We hold no brief for the Federal Communications Commission. It has on occasion shown itself to be arrogant and arbitrary in its control over the communications systems, especially in its control over the composition of radio programs. The public is entitled to know more about the supreme court ruling upholding the power of the commission in this respect. The people, however, could have had no faith in the findings of an investigating body headed by one whose motive was revenge rather than the protection of four lines of communication or the preservation of free speech, which many fear may be threatened by the power accorded the FCC.

On September 21 Edward J. Noble, who has just purchased the Blue network, was ordered by the chairman of the FCC in a public proceeding to state what his policy would be toward the sale of time on controversial issues. Not accepting the oral statement of Mr. Noble, the latter was asked by the chairman to put his views in writing.

Written Statement Required

Mr. Fly declared at the hearing that the policy which Mr. Noble had under consideration was "a restriction on the mechanics of free speech" and asked for a written statement of the "general attitude" of Mr. Noble and "what the policy of the Blue network is planned to be in terms of the expansion of the mechanics of free speech."

Mr. Fly has no power under law or under the first amendment to the constitution to constitute himself a policeman on the "mechanics of free speech." Congress never delegated such power to him and even if Justice Frankfurter's opinion did say that Congress had a right to control the business of the networks, there is nothing in the statute or in the debates which preceded its passage to justify any inference of such intent by the legislative body.

Mr. Fly is, of course, criticizing the code of the National Association of Broadcasters, which is a self-regulatory set of principles adopted by the broadcasting stations themselves a few years ago and the code does prohibit the sale of time to any organizations or groups for the purpose of discussing controversial issues.

Correct Criticism

It so happens that Mr. Fly is absolutely right in his criticism and he takes the same position which this correspondent took when the code was first promulgated. But the remedy for the unwise use of the radio is in the hands of the public and not in the government, unless the laws of fraud or morality are being transgressed.

Mr. Fly has as much privilege as any other citizen to make speeches criticizing the broadcasters' code. But when he undertakes, as a part of an official proceeding, to determine whether a commercial sale of network property should be permitted to a new owner, what the "general attitude" of that owner is, and to indicate his disapproval of a given policy, he is in reality using the licensing power of the FCC to intimidate the broadcasting stations of America.

He is in truth making himself the judge of what is or is not a proper policy on controversial issues and this is not the function of any governmental agency because censorship is expressly forbidden by the Radio Communications law.

Issue Impersonal

Mr. Fly has stepped beyond the line of his legal authority and is subject to impeachment for his wrongful use of governmental powers. But the issue is impersonal and the Congress has the greater responsibility of passing an amendment to the existing statute forbidding the misuse of the licensing power to propagate the social or economic views of the present or any other administration.

The FCC should be confined to the regulation of the wave lengths from the standpoint of allocating physical facilities to given areas and to prevent collisions in the air as between mechanical facilities. It should neither be given nor usurp power to tell licensees what views they may or may not hold in order to get or hold a radio station license.

Bureaucracy On Guard

From the Charleston, W. Va., Daily Mail

As is usually the custom when the wisdom of a particular piece of bureaucratic decision is questioned the administration leaders in Congress, including the sterling and heavy-browed statesman, Sen. Alben Barkley, rise to a blind defense. Thus, when Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, a Democrat but no administration man, says there are 197,000 men between 18 and 38 who are virtually "hiding" in government jobs to escape the draft, the administration comes to their defense.

If there is any doubt about the superfluity of manpower in federal service, let those ardent champions of New Deal omnipotence take the classic example of Secretary Ickes's board on geographical names, set up last February. At the last report, this board which tells you how to pronounce the correct place names of any town, country, river, lake, mountain or other geographical feature which Mrs. Roosevelt is likely to come across on her extensive travels, employs 110 persons and its chief, Dr. Meredith F. Burrill (salary: $8,000 annually) frankly admits that he is looking for twenty-five or thirty more.

These employees who are busy about pronunciations and language while vital war industries face manpower shortages which threaten their efficiency and production are part, no doubt, of the estimated 90,000 employees monthly who join the federal bureaucracy, despite the fact that the WPA, the NYA and the CCC were wiped out of existence by congress early this winter.

What has happened in Washington which calls for this overwhelming expansion of the public pay roll? It is true that we are fighting the greatest war in mankind's whole history, but of what use to the war effort is that bright mind in the OPA who took 2,500 words which very few people read to explain a new seed catalogue?

What good purpose toward winning the war was served by that unidentified genius who issued the lengthy interoffice memorandum about the most effective use of desk drawers by the stenographers in one agency?

Wagers Are Being Placed on Bowles In Washington

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON — Although new to Washington, Chester Bowles, the newly-appointed "general manager" of embattled OPA, is well aware of the capitol city's pitfalls and his experience with rationing and price control in Connecticut will stand him in good stead.

Bowles did so well in the Connecticut OPA job that OPA Chief Prentiss Brown for months tried to persuade him to come to Washington. He knew the local boards thoroughly; ousted incompetent officials; conducted a sort of "school" for state OPA officials and made a weekly broadcast to the public on price and rationing matters. He answered with care a large "fan mail" from the public.

Born in Springfield, Mass., in April, 1901, Bowles is a member of a family which founded and still operates the Springfield Republican. Samuel Bowles, his grandfather, was the fighting editor of the newspaper during the Civil war.

After attending Choate school and Yale, Bowles worked as a reporter on the Republican for two years and then went to New York for bigger fields to conquer. Before setting up his own advertising agency, he worked for the firm of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne.

Made Fortune

The new OPA operating chief, who made a fortune in advertising and retired at an age when most American businessmen are just reaching for success, will be the capitol's miracle-man if he can do in little over two months what his predecessors have failed to accomplish in two years—make OPA acceptable, workable and understandable.

Around OPA, however, they are betting on Bowles to do the job. The energetic newcomer has no illusions about the task ahead, having spent 18 months as successful OPA administrator for Connecticut, and he has made a good impression on his associates.

Regard for Public

Bowles has very definite ideas on how OPA should operate. They include fully informing the public as to the necessity for restrictions, promulgating regulations which are easy for the public and industry to understand and observe.

Bowles believes a vast majority of consumers and businessmen are essentially honest and want to do what is necessary to aid the war effort. However, "chiselers" will get short shrift and black markets will be attacked relentlessly. Bowles also is opposed to rationing just for the sake of rationing.

Bowles considers it his first duty to build a strong organization that will be fair and temperate, yet one that will be tough and fight "when we are sure we are right."

Seven Lessons Learned

"It will be my responsibility to examine and, if necessary, to reorganize each division of the OPA organization," he says. "Let me list seven of the lessons I have learned as an OPA state director and which I will try to apply in Washington:

"1—It is clear that people will cheerfully accept regulations in wartime provided they really understand the need. . . . We shall do our best to make them as simple as we can, and we shall explain them over and over again. . . .

"2—It is impossible to run any nation-wide government organization, such as the OPA, solely from Washington. . . . the effort to decentralize must be carried further.

Able Helpers Necessary

"3—I know that any successful operation depends on organization, and organization in turn depends upon people. . . . it will be my job to find outstanding people. . . .

"4—The overwhelming majority of people are honest and are anxious to do the right thing.

"5—Public respect for the OPA will increase if we are willing to take vigorous, firm action when such action is required. . . . we will do our best to clean up black markets.

"6—Everything possible can and should be done to make OPA regulations easy for businessmen to understand and to live with.

"7—Finally, the OPA must be willing at all times to stand up against selfish pressures."

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

ADAM and his foremen then discussed ways and means of increasing production regardless of the discouragements they were constantly facing.

"Getting needed material is another headache," one of the men said.

"I know," Adam replied. "Every factory faces that particular headache. We'll have to do what we can with what we've got—and hope for the best."

He knew as he said it that he sounded like a Pollyanna in pants. But even so, he had to make an effort at being cheerful. It might help the general morale of the place if he, the head of the factory, appeared to be not too worried.

He said a smiling "So long" as the men left, and then slumped down into his chair. He couldn't have felt a greater weight of responsibility if, like Atlas, he carried the world upon his shoulders. A short time later Susan Potter came in. She looked sweet and domestic in a white outfit that somewhat resembled the sort nurses wore. But when Adam saw her expression he felt his heart drop. More trouble! It was written all over Susan's face.

"Now what?" he said, trying not to sound as low as he felt.

"It's the sugar," Susan said. "It's partly salt."

"Good Lord!" said Adam. "And that's not all," said Susan, looking distressed. "I ruined a whole batch of cornstarch pudding."

"How?"

"With the mixture of sugar and salt."

"How did it happen?" Adam asked. "I mean—the mixture of salt and sugar."

"I don't know," said Susan. "All I know is that I dipped what I needed from the bag—and then when I tasted the pudding I nearly fell over." She made a wry face. "It was terrible."

"Did you investigate?"

"I asked the pantry woman, and several others," Susan replied, "but all they could tell me was that the bag was just as it has been delivered."

"Did you telephone the grocer?"

"I did. And he said there was nothing but sugar in the bag when it left his store."

Adam said nothing. But he wondered if the pantry woman was turning saboteur. It began to look as though no one could be trusted.

"I'm terribly sorry," Susan was saying. "Here I've been working for a week, and go and spoil all that food. And I was so sure I could save you money."

"Don't let it get you down," said Adam. "It's not your fault."

"I should have tasted the sugar before I put it in the pudding," she said self-accusingly.

"Perhaps you'd better do that from now on," said Adam wearily. "Meanwhile, hop down to the grocer's with one of the boys from the cafeteria and get a fresh bag. Be sure and test it before you leave the store, and don't let it get out of your sight."

"I'll do that," said Susan. "And no one will touch that sugar, even if I have to sit on it." She forced a smile. "And thanks, Adam, for being so nice about it."

"I've no reason to be otherwise," said Adam. "As I said, it's not your fault. Just one of those things that happen—at times like this."

Susan came nearer. "You mean you—you suspect someone?" she said, lowering her voice.

Adam managed a grin. "Susan Potter," he said, "suspecting people is getting to be a habit of mine. And when you go back to the kitchen, you might tell the pantry woman to come up to my office."

"Don't be too hard on her, please," Susan said. "She's feeling badly enough about it. She was weeping when I left."

"Okay," said Adam. But he felt suddenly hard and unsympathetic. Perhaps the woman's tears were only a blind.

Susan turned to go. "I'll certainly feel like rehearsing a play after this," she said. "And tonight's our first full rehearsal."

Maybe having the play to plunge into when evening comes is a good thing for us both," said Adam.

Then, suddenly, he asked, "How are things with Bill?"

Susan gave him a quick look. "He's still trying to make that deal with Alicia Carter, if that's what you mean."

"She's slow in making up her mind, isn't she?"

"She is. Molasses in January is speedy compared to Alicia."

Adam smiled. "Bill seemed a little—er—upset the other night when he dropped in at the rehearsal," he said. "I hope he doesn't object to your working here, and—and taking the role also."

"Oh, he gets a little riled at times," said Susan with an attempt at lightness. "But I'm going through with it—the job and the play."

"Good girl!" said Adam, but his voice sounded sort of hollow, he thought.

A lot of things occupied this time after Susan had gone. He went on his daily inspection of the factory from end to end and from side to side. Everything appeared to be working smoothly—and yet he had an uneasy feeling. Managing a factory that was doing war work was rather like walking on top of a volcano, or the calm before the storm, or the match placed too close to the keg of powder.

He stopped for a while beside

Otto, who was operating a polishing machine, and doing it expertly.

"Nothing prettier," said Otto, in an extraordinary good humor, "than a perfectly turned out and polished tool."

"No, there isn't," said Adam. He watched Otto's face and said, "It's even prettier when you stop to think what it's going to DO."

"Yes, SIR!" said Otto.

Adam left then, a pucker between his brows. Temperamental cuss, that Otto. Just why he should be so gosh-darn cheerful at this particular time was a mystery. He went back to his office.

"Brenda Leigh wants you to call her at once," Ruth Moorehouse told him.

"Thanks," said Adam. And presently he had Brenda on the wire. "I'm coming in early this evening," Brenda said. "I must see you before rehearsal."

"Okay," said Adam. "You sound excited."

"Do I? Maybe I am. Anyway, I'll tell you when I see you. Don't forget what you told me about talking over the telephone."

"I get you," Adam said. "How about having dinner with me here in town?"

"Fine! Only make it a quiet spot, with not too many walls with ears." "Miss Sally Brown's tea room," said Adam. "There's little doing there except at lunch. Dinner hour is quiet—and a lot lonelier than Miss Sally likes."

"Miss Sally Brown's tea room it shall be," said Brenda. "See you at six-thirty."

She hung up then. Adam did the same. He shook his head slowly. Brenda in her tow. That undercurrent of excitement in her voice. The field-glasses. More trouble, probably.

Women Golfers Elect Mrs. Eliason Chairman

Officers Will Be Installed at Final Meeting on October 12

The Women's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club elected Mrs. H. W. Eliason chairman for next year at the luncheon-meeting yesterday.

Members of the board elected to serve with her are Mrs. Haydn Butler, Mrs. Elizabeth Dixon, Mrs. Frederick Eller, Mrs. Morgan C. Harris, Mrs. Arthur Fuller and Mrs. A. Taylor Smith.

The officers will be installed at the final meeting of the year which will be held October 12. A golf match will be played in the afternoon, and will be followed by the dinner at which time prizes for the season will be awarded. The installation will conclude the program.

Mrs. Walter C. Capper is chairman of arrangements for the dinner. Members of her committee are Mrs. Henry A. Mackey and Mrs. Somerville Nicholson. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Fred T. Small will present the awards.

Mrs. A. P. Dixon was chairman this year with Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Dixon, Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Arthur C. Brotemarkle and Mrs. Edward Allen serving with her.

Social Is Cancelled

The social to be held this evening by the Sunday school of Zion Evangelical and Reformed church, 405 North Mechanic street, has been cancelled, due to the serious illness of the Rev. Fred M. E. Grove, pastor.

LITERATURE GROUP HEARS MISS WALSH

The Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club heard Miss Mary G. Walsh review three books at the opening meeting of the season yesterday afternoon at the Public Library.

Miss Walsh touched briefly on "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," by Captain Ted Lawton and his injuries sustained in the raid and trip back eventually to Walter Reed hospital, Washington, D. C., she also spoke of the pictures and accounts of each member of the raid, and urged every member to read the book.

Her second review was of "Supper at Maxwells House," by Alfred L. Crabbe, which she said covers the reconstruction of the South about 1860 and she recommended the book as being particularly fair to both the North and South. "Roughly Speaking," by Louise R. Pierson, the speaker said, is a humorous account of the author's life and that of her family.

The value of reading during the present time of stress was emphasized by the speaker, who pointed out that the opinions of individuals are important and suggested reading Walter Lippman's "United States Foreign Policy." Other suggestions for winter reading include "I Served on Bataan," by Juanita Redmond; "A Time for Greatness," Herbert Agar; "Burma Surgeon," Gordon Seagrove; "Journey Among Warriors," Eve Curie; "Brothers Under the Skin," Carey McWilliams; and for lighter entertainment, "Kate Pennington," Booth Tarkington; "Under Cover," John R. Callison; and "Not Alone," Joseph R. Sizoo.

Honor Mrs. Thoeirig

Members of the Yarn Billing department of the Celanese Corporation of America entertained with a dinner in honor of Mrs. Helen Thoeirig, Mt. Savage, last evening at the Liberty Tavern.

Mrs. Thoeirig recently enlisted in the WACs and will report for duty within the next couple weeks. She was presented with a gift by Miss Mary Lawler in behalf of the department.

Sgt. Richard Loar Weds Keyser Girl In Cumberland

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Lottia Folk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott D. Folk, Keyser, W. Va., and Staff Sgt. Richard H. Loar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loar, Allegany Grove.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized October 4 in the First Methodist church, Bedford street, with the Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor, officiating.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Allan Twigg and Glenn Burkett, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a two piece dress of skyway blue with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of gardenias completed her costume.

Mrs. Loar wore a dress of black velvet and taffeta with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

A graduate of Keyser high school, the bride is employed by the Peoples Drug store of Cumberland.

Sgt. Loar, a graduate of Allegany high school, recently returned from duty in the Aleutians with the United States Army Air Corps.

Sgt. and Mrs. Loar left for a wedding trip immediately following the ceremony. Upon their return, Sgt. Loar will report to Patterson Field, O., for reassignment.

SORORITY ENTERTAINS FOUR RUSHEES

Maryland Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, entertained four rushees at the meeting last evening at the Fort Cumberland hotel. The rushees are Mrs. Doris Orndorff, Mrs. Jean Eackles, Miss Mary Filler and Miss Dorothy Mott.

Miss LeVerne Thues presided and conducted a model meeting in honor of the rushees. The program under the direction of Miss Betty Rommelmeier included sketches of the lives of several famous honorary members of the sorority, by Miss Elizabeth Lippold; the sketches were of Eve Curie, Janet Blair, Madame Helene Granitsch and Marjory Wilson. Miss Ann Young spoke on the founding and history of the sorority and Miss Mary McGraw gave a talk on "What Beta Sigma Phi Means to Me."

The sorority decided as its war work contribution to fill twenty Red Cross army kits, which were distributed last evening.

The sorority colors of black and gold were carried out in the decoration of the cake and candies which centered the refreshment table. Favors were presented to each member. Miss Dorothy Lee Campbell was in charge of the social hour. Approximately fifteen other members attended. The next meeting will be held October 19.

Delegates Are Chosen By County P-T. A. Group

John Humbird and Midland Schools Will Represent City and County

The Allegany County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations elected delegates for the Maryland convention to be held in the Towson college November 3 and 4, at the first fall meeting Monday evening in the board of education office. John Humbird school was elected to represent the city school and Midland school for the county.

Gephart school was elected alternate for the city and Hill street, Frostburg, for the county. The schools will choose their own delegates.

Besides the election of state officers at the convention one of the highlights of the program will be a symposium on "International Relations Between Our Country and Others, with a Consideration of Such Relations Leading to Plans for Permanent Peace in the World."

Selected Project for Year

It was decided that the project of the council for the year will be "To Promote in the Local Parent-Teacher Association a Better Organized Program, Which Will Make for Better Organized Council." The council will also continue sponsoring the Co-ordinating Council for Child Welfare.

Mrs. J. Orville Fier, who presided, announced that the Clare Tree Major show, "Little Men," will be given under the auspices of the council Oct. 11, 12 and 13. There will be two showings at Fort Hill high school Oct. 11 one at 9:30 o'clock and the other at 1:30 o'clock. Oct. 12 the show will be given at 9:30 o'clock at Bruce high school. Westernport; and at 1:30 o'clock at Central high school, Lonaconing; and on Oct. 13 at 9:30 o'clock at Beall high school, Frostburg.

Mrs. Fier stressed the fact that there would be only one show this year, due to gas rationing, so eliminating the usual March show.

She also appointed chairmen and introduced the chairmen and presidents of the local units. Mrs. Robert G. Doty, program chairman; Mrs. Ruth Browne, publicity; Miss Margaret Jones, magazines and publications; Mrs. George J. Miller, health and Mrs. Ralph Rice, budget and finance; and the presidents of the Parent-Teacher Associations are Mrs. John N. Miller, Columbia street; Mrs. Pauline Turner, John Humbird street; Mrs. Eleanor Martens, Hill street; Mrs. Frank Bailey, Johnson Heights; Clarence Lippell, Mt. Royal; Mrs. Frank Moss, Pennsylvania Avenue and Mrs. Quita Barron, West Side.

Miss Mildred Beck reported on the summer conference held early in July at the University of Maryland and gave a resume of the talks given by James E. Spitznas, Dr. Albert C. Cook and Dr. John A. Cooper on the "Co-ordination of Child Welfare in the Community."

Set Up Programs

Following the meeting county and local units held conferences with the local unit chairmen and set up the programs for the year. Mrs. Miller, health chairman, announced the different schedules for toxoids being carried on in the schools by the city and county health officers. She also reported that the officers request that all pre-school children be brought to the school clinics in order to relieve the doctors of Cumberland, who are so overworked.

The program committee decided to continue the parent-education program series again this year, which were given by Mrs. Miriam Mirkin through the board of education. Mrs. Doty also reported that Dr. Lillian B. Davis, assistant supervisor of schools of Baltimore, will give a lecture on "Sex Hygiene," in the near future.

Reports on the progress of the local units will be given at the meeting to be held at 7:45 o'clock December 6 in the board of education office.

Need for SPARs Is Stressed By Mrs. Scott

Recruits for the United States Coast Guard Reserve, better known as the SPARs, are urgently needed to replace coast guardsmen at shore stations. Phyllis I. Scott, yeoman second class, Baltimore, reported yesterday.

Mrs. Scott, who is here at the United States employment office from 8:30 to 5 o'clock, to recruit girls, stressed the fact that "members of the SPARs will not be assigned to duty on board vessels of the navy or coast guard or in combat aircraft but will be restricted to the performance of shore duty within the Continental United States only."

She also pointed out that SPARs enjoy a greater measure of security as members of the armed forces than the average civilian. The enlisted personnel may earn up to $125 a month, base pay, plus subsistence allowance of $150 a day. In unusual instances where quarters are not arranged for by the coast guard, SPARs also receive a quarters allowance.

Recruits are from twenty to thirty-six years of age and will be trained in most any kind of work at Palm Beach, Fla. Although secretarial workers are needed previous training is not absolutely necessary.

SPARs are not an auxiliary of the coast guard, but a part of it, receiving the same ratings, pay and privileges, except those of serving afloat or outside the continental limits of the United States, as coast guardsmen.

Volunteers Will Aid Crippled Children

The Junior Volunteer Service Corps voted to continue the sustaining membership to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children for another year, at the meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. O. Schiefel, Washington street. They also decided to assist at the Child Welfare center.

Mrs. Thomas G. Davis reported 259 hours of volunteer service had been given during September, and appointed workers for October.

The next meeting will be held November 2 at the home of Mrs. William C. Walsh, North Smallwood street.

Gives Birthday Party

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Lowery, Ellerslie, in honor of George Lowery, celebrating his seventy-seventh birthday, Saturday.

Fall flowers were used in the decoration and thirty-nine guests attended.

Chemical Society Will Hear Dr. R. P. Dinsmore

Will Speak on Synthetic Rubber at Meeting on October 15

The Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society will have Dr. R. P. Dinsmore, Akron as the guest speaker at the meeting at 8 o'clock October 15 at the Algonquin. His topic will be "The Problems and Accomplishments in Synthetic Rubber."

Dr. Dinsmore, a vice-president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company was formerly assistant deputy rubber director of the War Production Board.

Dr. Robert W. Work is chairman of the local section with Leonard Murphy, chairman-elect and Dr. E. D. Bollinger, treasurer. The election for the ensuing year will be held by ballot in November. Mr. Murphy will be installed with the new chairman elect and treasurer at the meeting in January.

The local section was organized

April 1941 and each month a speaker of national importance in scientific endeavor addresses the group. Although most of the topics are on chemistry, occasionally the speakers branch out in other fields and various other clubs are guests of the section. Among the talks besides chemistry have been on amateur crime detection, sulphur drugs, plastics and mathematics.

“Let 'em get dirty, I say, now that I've got Super Suds' EXTRA SUDS!”

“MORE SUDS, LONGER-LASTING SUDS get out dirt on the double-quick,” says Mrs. Charlotte Sherry

“GUESS every mother who's got boys like my Jack and Jim knows that sinking feeling when you've just put 'em in clean clothes and then catch 'em up to something like this. With such a heavy wash, I was determined to get a wash-day soap that gave MORE SUDS! New Super Suds was the answer. What a difference it makes! Dirt gives in extra fast... less rubbing... longer life for your clothes!”

MORE SUDS, LONGER-LASTING SUDS mean HARDER-WORKING SUDS say most of the old hands at washing. That's why they usually change to new, sudsier Super Suds the minute they make the “milk-bottle suds test.” Let MORE SUDS, LONGER-LASTING SUDS save you wash-day grief.

“PUNY, STINGY LITTLE SUDS FROM MY OLD SOAP SURE OPENED MY EYES. THEY DIDN'T LAST AT ALL!”

“CHUNKS OF UNDISSOLVED STUFF, TOO. THEY CLUNG TO CLOTHES WHEN YOU'RE RINSIN'... AND THEY'RE NOT MAKIN' SUDS!”

“LOOK AT THE WONDERFUL SUDS I GOT FROM NEW SUPER SUDS! WONDERFULLY LONG-LASTIN' TOO!”

“NOT A SIGN OF BIG UNDISSOLVED PIECES HERE... ALL OF SUPER SUDS SEEMS TO MAKE SUDS... WHICH MEANS THE SOAP GOES FURTHER!”

“Jean loves to help me make the beds. I love to see my sheets so much whiter since I've been washin' 'em in Super Suds EXTRA SUDS. With less rubbin' and not havin' to use anythin' strong, they wear so much better, too.”

★ DON'T WASTE SOAP! ★

Vital materials needed to win the war are used in making soap

1 Don't just pour soap in from the box. Measure it out in a cup so that you don't use too much.

2 Don't wash a few clothes at a time, which means soap for each batch. Save them up and wash everything at once.

3 Don't soak clothes first in soapy water. Modern soaps are made to take out the dirt in the regular washing.

4 Don't wash dishes without first rinsing them. Less soap is needed if they are rinsed first. Wash greasy dishes last.

Water Shortage Comes to an End At Mt. Savage

Clogged Lines Apparently Caused Stoppage Last Week

MT. SAVAGE, Oct. 5 — The water shortage in some sections of Mt. Savage came to an end suddenly this week, when the supply in the Row-Church Hill districts, which had completely stopped last week, became as plentiful as ever.

The return of the water in these sections is somewhat of a mystery, as the rain last week was not sufficient to account for the renewal of the supply, nor has any work on the local line been reported. It is supposed that the pipes were clogged at some points and the obstacles have been washed out.

The stoppage of water last week caused considerable consternation here as it became difficult to secure water for cooking, cleaning or washing. The supply from the other local line, formerly known as the O'Toole line, was hardly adequate and the residents had to depend on a few private supplies in the community.

Pranksters Busy

Although Halloween is several weeks away, children are already repeating disturbances by pranksters. A number of gates have been taken, including several large gates leading to private driveways. Also in various sections boys have been pelting homes with cabbage stalks, apples and in some cases, even large stones. The residents are indignant over the nightly disturbances, but so far, no one has recognized the trouble makers.

Committee Kills "Legal Equality" For Women

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—The House Judiciary committee today killed a proposed constitutional amendment which would have given women "legal equality" with men.

The so-called equal rights amendment — designed primarily to remove some state barriers against women's jury service and other legal technicalities — was voted down 11 to 15 in the committee.

A similar proposal is pending in the Senate, having been approved by that body's judiciary committee. One committee member said opponents feared the amendment would invade state's rights and conflict with numerous state laws regulating women's working conditions, jury service and qualifications for public office.

American conference of foreign ministers and that Secretary Hull will represent the United States came today from President Roosevelt.

He said he had seen Hull this morning and the Secretary had not made up his mind then when he would spill the beans.

Victory Is Long Way Off, F.D.R. Tells Nation

Appeals for $125,000,000 National War Fund for Welfare Work

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt appealed to his fellow countrymen tonight to build up a $125,000,000 National War Fund for welfare work and aid to service men, telling them that a share in the fund "is a share in winning the war."

He opened the campaign for contributions in a radio address, broadcast from the White House over all networks.

Drives for all welfare and relief organizations, except the American Red Cross, are being consolidated, this year in the fund. It will provide the money for Community Chests, United Service organizations, War Prisoners Aid, United Seamen's Service, and foreign relief agencies.

While ultimate victory is certain, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, it still is a long way off, and the American people know that "for it we are paying and shall have to pay a great price."

He asked Americans to think carefully before giving to the fund. "I ask you to remember," he said, "that the USO is doing for our own fighting men, and the forces behind the lines. I ask you to consider that war prisoners aid does what no government can do. I ask you to think of United Seamen's Service in terms of the people's debt to the men who took our ships across in the darkest hours of the war."

"And I ask you not to forget that the people of Russia, and China, and of all the other United Nations — and especially the unfortunate, hungry men, women and children of all the overrun and enslaved countries — see in your personal and friendly concern the brightest ray of hope and the greatest power for good in the world today—the sovereign voice of the people of the United States."

"I ask you, therefore, to give thoughtfully, and generously, and proportionately — remembering as you give, that a share in the National War Fund is a share in winning the war, and in winning the right of free men to live in a better world."

American Planes

New evidence that the Japanese navy has been badly hurt by Allied air and sea forces was disclosed in the latest clash in waters of the Central Solomons. A force of enemy destroyers, bent on intervening in an attack on their evacuation barges, turned back rather than face the deadly fire of American warships.

Upwards of forty barges, self-propelled craft made of steel or wood, and a gunboat were sunk or badly damaged by United States destroyers last Friday and Saturday nights in attacks designed to frustrate the enemy's attempt to evacuate his entrapped garrison at Vila on Kolombangara Island.

War on Rheumatic Fever Is Urged

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—A call for "commando assaults" throughout the nation on rheumatic fever, foremost killer of children of school age, was sounded today at the opening of a national conference of medical authorities seeking agreement "on the best and newest methods" for treating the disease.

Dr. Martha M. Elliot, associate chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, which is sponsoring the three-day meeting, said the sessions marked the first meeting of public health officials with men doing research on the problem, and she declared a highlight of the conference would be a round-up report of six years' employment of the sulfa drugs in seeking to prevent recurrences of the fever.

Rheumatic heart disease, resulting from the fever, Dr. Elliot said, "causes more deaths among children than whooping cough, measles, meningitis, diphtheria, scarlet fever and poliomyelitis combined."

such that workers are not available at this time.

The wage raise will affect all attendants working at least sixty hours weekly on the basis of forty-hour week, and will become effective as soon as the directive is received by the commissioner of mental hygiene, O'Connor added.

At the same time, the use of real estate taxes to carry the bond issue of 1935 was waived by the board because the inheritance taxes are sufficient to pay all charges, O'Connor said.

The annual cost to the state of the $8,500,000 in bonds issued in 1935 amounts to $785,742, the governor stated.

Yugoslav Naval Units Capture Lussino Island

258 German Officers and Prisoners Taken after Two-Day Fight

By E. C. DANIEL
LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Yugoslav naval units—joining in the campaign of the People's Liberation army to wrest the Dalmatian coast from the Nazis—have captured the island of Lussino, strategically located fifty miles southeast of the Italian naval base of Pola, a communiqué broadcast today by the free Yugoslav radio announced.

The broadcast, recorded here by Reuters, said the partisan naval units participated in a two-day fight to capture the Italian island and took 258 German officers and men prisoners. (Reuters first reported the island to be Lofin, but later corrected it to Lussino, which is the same as Lussino.) The London Yugoslav government, which is not connected with the Liberation army, was unable to verify the capture of the island.

Lussino, one of a string of islands lying along the Yugoslav coast, poses a direct threat to Pola, the Italian northeast Adriatic base ninety miles due south of Trieste.

Capture of the town of Trieste on the river Isonzo in Montenegro also was reported in the communiqué.

As these Yugoslav patriot advances were made against the Axis, the rivalry between Gen. Draja Mihailovic and the Montenegro leader Josip Broz, popularly known as "Tito," was highlighted with a charge issued here by the latter's supporters that Gen. Mihalovic was collaborating with the Germans.

A group calling itself "the Association of Yugoslav Journalists in London" issued a statement asserting that all the present fighting against the Nazis in Yugoslavia is being waged by the People's Liberation army under Tito.

The group charged that "Gen. Mihailovic's detachments still collaborate with the Germans and (Croat) Ustachis."

Asserting that there was no connection between the Tito and Mihailovic armies, the journalists asserted that Mihailovic, King Peter's war minister, deserves no credit for any victories thus far attained.

The statement gave point to stories that Tito, in radio broadcasts, has accused Mihailovic of playing both sides in the war. It followed a statement by a Zurich correspondent of a Stockholm, Sweden, newspaper that Mihailovic had stated that troops under his command would not be led into battle until the Allies landed in Yugoslavia.

36 States Pass War Loan Goal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—With thirty-six states over their Third War Loan goals, the national total went to $17,733,000,000 tonight—a $349,000,000 one-day gain.

Seven new states — Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Washington and Wisconsin—moved up to the 100 per cent or better class, and four more states — Alabama, Arkansas, Montana and Oregon—joined the seven previously over their quotas for individual sales.

Only four states, part of a fifth and the possessions are short of their assignments for corporate investments. They are Arkansas at 82 per cent, Northern California 87, Kansas 97, Kentucky 84, Vermont 91 and the Possessions 85. New Mexico led all states in that division. Its $2,000,000 quota was 330 per cent oversubscribed.

Harris Is Freed Of Murder Charge

Judge Holds That Man Has Right To Resist Illegal Arrest

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5 (AP)—Stipulating that a man has a right to resist illegal arrest with "whatever reasonable force may have been required," Criminal Court Judge Eugene O'Connor freed Ronald Harris today of a murder charge in the death of Patrolman William J. Woodcock.

The jurist held that the arrest of Harris, an ex-convict, on assault complaints was "wholly illegal" and criticized what he termed "too free use of the nightstick" by Baltimore policemen.

"I may say in passing," the court remarked in a thirty-page opinion, "and without any special emphasis as applied to the facts in this case, that I have seen in my present year in the criminal court too many instances in which police officers are altogether too free with the use of the nightstick, using it as some doctors dispense calomel — as a universal remedy for all ailments, or at least the first one to be prescribed without further study of the case."

Woodcock was injured fatally in a fight with Harris last June 12. Judge O'Dunne held that the arrest should not have been made because "a peace officer may not arrest without a warrant for a misdemeanor not committed in his presence or view x x x."

Elsewhere in his opinion, Judge O'Dunne commented that "this case is of public importance. It bristles with interest from a variety of angles, such as subtle legal technicalities on the law of arrests and the admissibility of evidence, both of which in some respects do violence to common sense.

"It also presents a problem of psychology which looms large and defies solution, at least by me."

Helping Back the Attack with

MEAT

When you feel that you are not getting the kind or amount of meat you want, remember —it's for a boy who may smell powder a lot more than he smells meat cooking —and who hears bombs a lot oftener than he hears the sizzle of a steak.

The high-quality, complete proteins, the B vitamins and the minerals of meat are essential to the good physical condition of our fighting forces.

A 90 day advance supply of food is needed for every man in training. An eight-month reserve is needed for every man overseas. Every ship sunk, every shift in the progress of the war can increase the need.

Such are the calls coming in for the sides of beef and pork which used to be available at your neighborhood meat store.

The meat and livestock industries have taken on a job of helping feed our fighters, providing meat for our fighting allies through Lend-Lease, and trying to meet the demands of a harder working civilian population with plenty of money to spend.

More than 1200 American meat packing houses and nearly 1000 sausage makers are bending into this gigantic task. Millions of patriotic livestock producers are working with them in "backing the attack."

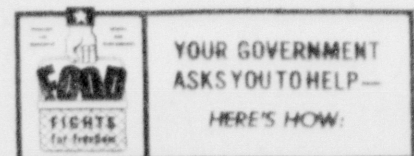

PROTEINS ARE ESSENTIAL TO LIFE

All meat—beef, pork, lamb, veal, and sausage—contains complete, highest quality proteins. All meat contains essential B vitamins (thiamine, riboflavin, niacin) and important minerals (iron, copper, phosphorus).

The human body does not store these nutritional essentials to any appreciable extent; you must get them from the daily food you eat.

Remember, the flavor of meat is not rationed. Even a little meat changes the character of the whole meal. Supplement the proteins of meat with meat's "allies in protein"—poultry, fish, milk, eggs and cheese. Keep up on proteins.

This Seal means that all statements regarding nutrition made in this advertisement are acceptable to the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

Produce Food—Let's not permit a square foot of good earth to go idle if it can produce something to eat. Start planning next year's Victory Garden now.

Conserve Food—20 to 30 per cent of America's food has been wasted every year. This waste in itself is more than enough to feed our armed forces. Eat every crumb, drink every drop, and when it's time, can all you can.

Share Food—Through rationing, civilians are asked to guarantee that our fighters will have plenty. Rationing is Uncle Sam's way of saying, "Home folks, hold back—we need it for the boys."

Play Square with Food—Pledge yourself to accept no rationed foods without giving up ration stamps... and to pay no more than top legal prices. That way you can kill the Black Market in meat, butter and other rationed foods.

Leonardtown's Boom Fails To Please Natives

By FRED STABLEY
LEONARDTOWN, Md., Oct. 5 (AP)—By and large they don't like it, but residents of this old Southern Maryland town freely admit life in old St. Mary's county will never be the same again.

They'll regain their mental equilibrium and their sense of values—in fact, they're in the process right now—but things from now on are bound to be permanently different from the slow-paced, pleasantly easy-going life they knew until less than two years ago.

War Causes Turmoil

What brought on this sudden and violent change was the decision by navy brass hats in Washington that Cedar Point, a lush farming area on a peninsula formed by the Patuxent river and Chesapeake Bay a score or so miles from Leonardtown, was the ideal site for its projected permanent station for air experimentation.

The decision was made in 1941. The work began in March, 1942, and with it began the metamorphosis of a quiet country town into a bustling, crowded, chaotic and frequently violent boom town.

Leonardtown was the only town of any size—normal population about 600—near Cedar Point, and it immediately became the artery through which thousands of workers from all over the map flowed to the base. Moreover, it became the home of hundreds of them, the Saturday night mecca for still others who lived in barracks on the navy reservation or in nearby trailer camps, and the shopping center for jostling, money-laden wives of workers at the base.

Population Climbs

The town's population doubled, trebled and quadrupled its size. Serious estimates place the population today at about 3,000. Stores were not infrequently sold out to the walls of groceries and goods.

The lone theater did capacity-plus business, the half dozen beer parlors and liquor dispensaries were jammed to the doors until completely drained of every drop inside. Love or money could get no room in the one hotel or any boarding house in town, streets at night were clogged with pedestrians such as are rarely seen outside a major city's amusement area.

Violence flared more and more frequently. The county's jail, small and dating from the seventeenth century, was used more extensively than it had been in many years. Court dockets swelled.

People Happy at First

At first Leonardtown residents were happy about the whole thing. They liked the excitement, and until supplies ran so low they didn't have enough for themselves and old residents had to go to other towns and stand in queues to shop, they liked the business.

Then the whole thing became repulsive. They wished they'd never heard of the naval base. They spoke longingly of the old days when a man could come in from the farm at night and be sure of getting a glass of beer. They had fights with the Office of Price Administration about food and other quotas. They complained, and were upheld by the OPA, that not enough of the necessities were being channeled into the area in view of its increased population. An open rift appeared between "natives" and "foreigners".

Magic Wand Lures Fish to Boat

Denver, Oct. 4 (AP)—Press a button—and the fish float right to the boat.

An electrical device used by the state game and fish department stuns fish momentarily so they can be caught, tagged and relocated.

Fishermen will have to keep using lures and bait, though. The magic wand is exclusively the state's.

The lowest marriage rate in the United States in the past fifty years was in 1932, 7.9 per 1,000 inhabitants.

School Dress

Here's a dress that has the sort of "chic" a bright young school girl loves. Pattern 9539 is just as trim and slim looking as any of Big Sister's frocks, but so simple and right for the little rope-skinner. She'll love it in a pretty plaid, touched off by a spanking white collar.

Pattern 9539 may be ordered only in girls' sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14. Size 10 requires two and one-eighth yards thirty-five-inch, one-fourth yard contrast.

Send sixteen cents in coins for this pattern. Write plainly size, name, address, #1576 number.

New Fall and Winter Pattern Book for ten cents more. Free pattern for apron with applique printed right in book.

Send your order to the Cumberland News, Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth street, New York.

During the first six months of 1943, age 18 predominated in the frequency of arrests.

Wartime Dairy No Spot for Fragile Farmerette, Correspondent Reveals

By MALVINA STEPHENSON
Central Press Correspondent
SAPULPA, Okla.—If food will win the war and write the peace, as agricultural officials predict, then magazine cover, but this expert correspondent can bid for at least a footnote in history.

Doffing a slightly soiled white blouse in peasant-trimmed play collar and skinning into farmerette clothes. Bring on the muscles and togs. I got down to earth in the energy, wrapped in sturdy sun-rough-and-tumble experience on protecting garments.

The food production line. But, what! The official Women's Land Army I worked up chiefly was some of hasn't caught on very well in the 'the good, honest "sweat" which middle west, although hundreds of women on an individual and neighborhood basis helped harvest the wheat in Kansas. In this small farm area of Oklahoma, I found the same evidence of the farm labor shortage, but the unrelenting succession of freeze, flood and drought has almost wiped out the need for any workers.

"City Girl" applicants had been rare here, so my pioneering efforts might have faced some difficulty. County Agent Lynn Russell, however, speedily came to the rescue. Hoping to stimulate interest in this kind of home front service, he touched for my trial and got me an assignment at an outlying dairy farm.

Already, I was full of inspiration from reading the extension worker's creed in the county agent's office.

"I love the big outdoors... the smell of the soil, the smile of the sun, the kiss of the wind... the friendship of the horse, the confidence of the sheep, the gentleness of the cow."

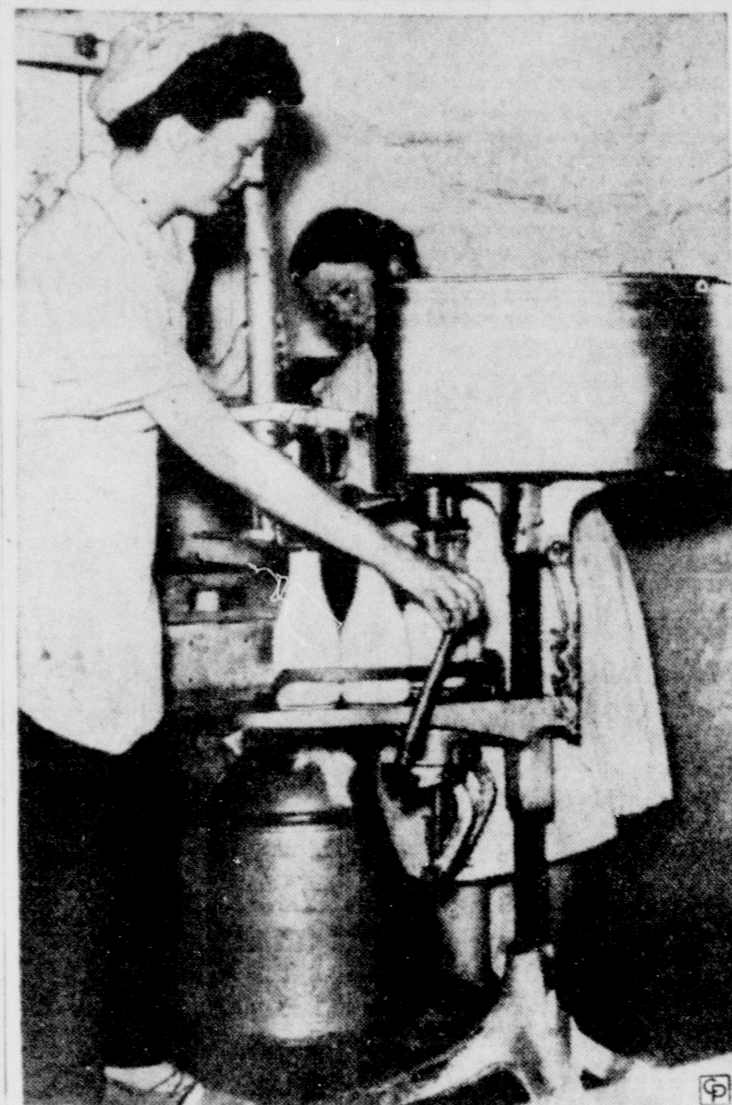

There was a lyric beauty about this prose in its ornate bronze frame but, unfortunately, I found that Bossy hadn't read it.

When I entered the milking barn, the cows were securely anchored with stanchions around their necks. The row of husky hind legs appeared not a little menacing, and I was relieved to see the metal bands grounding one pair of kickers.

The thought of scooting under those rear quarters with a milk pail all at once lost its appeal, and Brownie didn't help things by tossing a scowl my way. She seemed to sense a stranger in the midst, and only was assuaged by an extra ration of bran for dessert.

Perched cautiously on the edge of the milk stool, I began to pull on her udder, but little milk came. Mrs. C. E. Shirley, the dairyman's plump, genial wife, showed a feminine understanding and assured it would "all come" with experience.

It seems that the "milk house" is really considered the woman's MILK MAID—Miss Stephenson operates a bottling and topping machine on a dairy farm. Her boss, Mrs. Shirley, is seen in the background.

Then, there's another handy piece of equipment for bottling and topping the milk. From the big metal bowl pours a double stream, with a second lever clamping the tops on the twin bottles. The 30 gallons, in quart containers, are then deposited in the adjacent ice box, prepared for delivery the following morning.

Of course, there's a whole string of chores around the barnyard: cleaning the stalls, scrubbing floors and keeping water for the cows. A thrifty operator will try to raise as much feed as possible, but the summer drought here has cut into pasture possibilities. Shirley, a typical small dairy farmer, is now milking only 16 cows, less than half in normal times.

Investigating more about this farm business, I wielded a hoe, perched on a tractor, and pattered with poultry, the jobs considered best suited for women. But the greenhorn is clumsy, and any girl who would like to lend a helping hand, could well take advantage of the established courses, the best known of which is the Farmingdale, L. I. Institute. In addition, the universities of Connecticut, Maryland and Illinois, and Virginia Polytechnic Institute have practical training for women.

Already, the New England states can boast dozens of year-round women farm helpers, but the most important large-scale recruitments have been for seasonal work, with women's camps set up in Connecticut, New Jersey, Maryland and California.

Miss Florence Hall, chief of the Women's Land Army, Washington, is encouraging women to do farm work, either as members of the WLA, or on their own. The farmers don't have "easy" jobs to offer, and they must compete with higher-paying war plants, but if they are to increase production that thirty-eight per cent, then help must come, and the patriotic woman can do her share.

Battle for Coo May Touch Off Aegean Campaign

Strategic Aspects of Fight for Island Are Difficult To Discern

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press War Analyst
Strategic aspects of the fight for Coo island, off the Turkish coast in the Italian Dodecanese group at the eastern mouth of the Aegean sea, are as difficult to discern as the status of the conflict itself, clouded by conflicting Nazi and British reports.

It seemed probable last night, however, that the first skirmish of a battle of the Aegean was being fought there. For prestige reasons if no other, the British commander in that Eastern Mediterranean zone, General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, hardly can afford to permit the Germans to retain the island if they have retaken it as Berlin claims.

But just where Coo island, a tiny strip of land some twenty miles long by six miles wide, figures in Allied offensive plans is far from clear. The smaller but better equipped island of Leros, some sixty miles farther north in the Dodecanese group and still British held, is a better air stepping-stone up the Eastern Aegean. It is known to have good land and sea plane facilities as against Coo's more limited air installations.

Threat to Rhodes
In Nazi eyes, at least, Coo probably represented a British beginning on the business of recapturing the great Greek island of Crete, primary Nazi bastion guarding the approaches to the Aegean. Coo lies 100 miles or less northeast of Crete. In Allied hands it represented a base for fighter planes to protect bombers from across the Mediterranean or from Italy assigned to blast a way back on to Crete.

The fact that Crete is out of range for fighters from the south shore of the Mediterranean largely led to the British disaster on Crete when Nazi forces overran it in the first major air-borne invasion of the war.

Allied-Italian seizure of Coo also represented a very close threat to the largest island of the Dodecanese group, Rhodes, sixty miles to the southeast.

British activity in the Dodecanese group also might be calculated to assure nearby Turkey of prompt Allied air support if and when she takes the plunge into the war as a British ally and member of the United Nations.

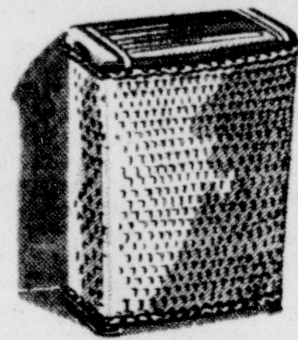

Delaying Operation

The vigorous and surprise Nazi reaction at Coo virtually compels prompt British sea and air action to regain it, for the effect on Turkey or on the Nazis wavering Balkan allies, Bulgaria and Rumania. For that reason alone the Coo fight will might touch off the whole Aegean battle ahead of the Allied schedule.

Nevertheless, the German move against Coo cannot be regarded as more than a delaying operation, a counter-attack to upset Allied plans and give more time for reorganization of Nazi defense dispositions in the Balkans and Greece forced by Italian defection from the Axis.

Whatever lies back of it, the Nazis have invited eruption of the battle in the Aegean-Eastern Mediterranean sector at a time when the Russian front is admittedly bogged except on the Sozh river line east of the Dnieper above the mouth of the Pripiet, and when the fight in Italy is moving northward a new Nazi standing ground.

Legislation exempting the federal government from paying state motor taxes of one kind or another was enacted this year by Alabama, Florida, Indiana, North Dakota and Oklahoma.

Lonaconing Council Promises Action Against Vandals

County Engineer Advises Repairs for Union Street Bridge

LONACONING, Oct. 5.—At the Mayor and Town Council session last night at the Council chamber, representatives of the Lonaconing and Althouse Coal Companies complained of destruction to their property.

The mining companies sign posts, which the town granted them permission to erect at the corner of Jackson street and Jackson mountain, were destroyed. The city clerk was advised to write the person responsible to replace the signs or further action would be taken by the defendants.

Mrs. J. D. Thomson complained of noise in her neighborhood at all times. The council moved to take care of the matter to her satisfaction.

Miss Nora McGregor asked the council to close a sewer at the front of her property on Roosevelt avenue.

A communication was received from the Board of County Commissioners stating that the county engineer had inspected the Union street bridge and advised that it should be repaired at once. He commented that the driveway was "visually safe" but the sidewalks badly deteriorated.

The council unanimously decided to get an expert repairman to estimate the cost of repairs.

BARTON, Oct. 5.—Rally Day and Promotion Sunday will be observed by the Sunday school of the Methodist church at the services Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock. A program entitled "Forward Together" will be given by the children of the primary and intermediate classes.

The children are being trained for this occasion by Mrs. William R. Harvey, and Miss Gladys Porter primary, and Mrs. Gertrude Broadwater, Margaret Metz and Susan McConnell, intermediate.

Party Is Held

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Harvey gave a party at their home recently in honor of their daughter, Carolyn's ninth birthday, and their son, Billy's eleventh birthday. Twenty guests attended.

An original play composed by Emma Lou McCormick and Carolyn Harvey, entitled "Promoting the War Effort," was given by the guests. Refreshments were served, after which, all attended the movie, "Jitterburg," at the San Toy Theater, Lonaconing.

Dinner Is Postponed

The dinner for the Red Cross workers which was announced to be held in the high school Oct. 7, has been postponed until Wednesday Nov. 3 due to the water situation.

Personals

Mrs. Gladys Porter returned from Richmond where she visited friends and relatives over the weekend.

Mrs. A. Cross, Mrs. Benjamin Mowbray, Mrs. William Kyle, Mrs. David Gowans and Mrs. J. Donald Wilson of the Barton Presbyterian church attended the Western Maryland branch of the Presbyterian association held in the First Presbyterian church, Cumberland, Monday.

Mrs. Bradley Gibson, Washington, D. C., and Mr. Frank Cross, Fairmont, W. Va., spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cross.

Seamen Second Class Kenneth K. Kimble, Warren Elliott and Calvin Jewell returned today to Great Lakes naval training station, Ill., after spending a furlough with their parents here.

Frostburg Jaycees Attend State Directors Meeting

Paul Miller, Vice President of National Group, Speaks in Hagerstown

PROSBURG, Oct. 5.—Charles N. Hill, president of the Frostburg Junior Chamber of Commerce; E. Ben Myers, Jesse Jacobs and Walter E. Mackay, members, attended the meeting of the board of directors of the Maryland State Junior Chamber of Commerce, Sunday, at the Hotel Alexander, Hagerstown.

Paul Miller, vice-president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker. He discussed the postwar aims of the organization, one of which, he said, is to aid in placing returning service men in better jobs than they had when they left to serve their country. "The machinery for doing this job, he disclosed, is already being set up and will soon begin to function."

The meeting unanimously endorsed the "fifth freedom" or the "freedom of opportunity," which is to be the organization's watchword from now until the postwar world is established on a firm basis.

Jesse Jacobs was elected state chairman of the fire prevention and safety committee and the Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, this city was named head of the committee for executive and speaker training for Maryland.

Rotary Club Meets

Seaman Second Class Ralph M. Race, home on furlough from the Great Lakes naval training station, attended the weekly luncheon of the Frostburg Rotary Club Monday evening and presented Lieut. Margaret N. Diehl, a member of the WAC recruiting staff, Cumberland, who was the guest speaker on a program arranged by Rudolph Nickel.

Seaman Race, a past president of the Rotary Club, paid high tribute to the WAC organization as he has observed them in his brief career so far with the armed forces. Lieut. Diehl, a native of Altoona, Pa., gave an interesting account of her experiences as a member of the Women's Army Corps. Music for the occasion was furnished by Prof. Maurice Matteson and his Salmonian.

Guests attended were Henry Startzman, Hagerstown; Joseph Weitzel, Cumberland; and Lacey Copley and Samuel T. Walker, this city.

Frostburg Briefs

The Ladies Social Club bowling teams of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold a special meeting Wednesday evening, 8 o'clock, in the Eagles club rooms.

Yanks Top Cards 4-2 as Series Opens with Incredible Miscues

Clash Is Pitching Triumph for "Spud" Chandler and Comeback for Joe Gordon

By JUDSON BAILEY

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 5 (AP) — In one of the oddest, most outlandish games in the history of the World Series, the New York Yankees conquered the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 2, today before 68,676 fans who packed the stadium for the opening contest of the 1943 diamond classic.

It was a triumph for the pitching prowess of Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, the 34-year-old Georgia right-hander, and a spectacular comeback for Second Baseman Joe Gordon, the goat of last year's series, but mostly it was a befuddled exhibition of baseball.

Chandler, who had lost two World Series games and never pitched a complete one in his previous chances with the Yankees, lived up to his reputation as the outstanding hurler of the present major league season by holding the Cardinals to seven hits and bearing down in the clutch.

Gordon hit a ringing home run in the fourth inning and gave a miraculous defensive performance during which he made eight assists to tie a World Series record for second baseman and handled twelve fielding chances, just one short of the record for total chances.

Their double-barreled heroics gave the fans something good to remember, but the recollections most spectators probably carried from the big ball park were of the incredible miscues which went into their record books as four errors and the one which didn't but which lost the ball game for the Cardinals.

Lanier Starts Well

For five innings Max Lanier, the chunky southpaw, ably matched Chandler's curving efforts, but in the sixth he made a wild pitch that allowed Frank Crosetti to score all the way from second and put Bill Johnson on third base with what proved to be New York's final run.

Lanier and Crosetti and a confusing jumble of bad plays also had been involved in the Yankees' first run in the fourth frame. Crosetti, leading off, hit a grounder which Lou Klein fielded well and threw to Lanier for what should have been a putout. However, Lanier stopped on first base with the ball and Crosetti crashed into him at full speed, causing the pitcher to drop the ball for an error.

On the next pitch Crosetti stole second with the help of a high, wild throw by Walker Cooper which sailed into center field. He moved to third when Johnson beat out a bunt down the first base line and scored as Charley Keller hit into a doubleplay.

Gordon followed with his homer, picking out the "cripple" an easy pitch by Lanier with the count three balls and one strike.

The third inning opened with Crosetti again reaching first on a close play. Third Baseman George Kurovski, of the Cards, had jumped high in the air to knock down his line drive, but was off balance on the throw which came to Ray Sanders on a bounce just as Crosetti crossed the bag. Johnson put him on second with a single center and Keller fled out.

Cardinal Run Tainted

Lanier worked carefully on Gordon this time, getting two strikes past him, but then the left-hander uncorked a wild pitch that carried past Cooper. The ball rolled toward the St. Louis dugout and the catcher went hunting in it in the direction of the Yankees' bench.

While this hysterical act was in progress, and Lanier came racing in from the mound to retrieve the ball, Crosetti scampered home from second and Johnson went from first to third.

Lanier finished fanning Gordon, and then Bill Dickey, the old war-horse of the Yanks, boosted a single just out of Klein's reach in right center for another run.

Lanier, after giving seven hits and striking out seven, subsequently was removed for a pinch batter in the eighth and Harry Brecheen, also a southpaw, completed the pitching chore allowing the Yankees one hit in the inning he worked.

The Cardinals' runs were tainted with the same sort of miscues. They took a 1 to 0 lead against Chandler in the second inning and seemed to have him in the same sort of a hole as last year when Ernie White beat him with a 2 to 0 shutout.

On the first pitch in this frame Walker Cooper bounced a single off Third Baseman Johnson's glove and was sacrificed to second on a perfect bunt by Kurovski. Sanders struck out and Danny Litwhiler walked, the only pass given up by Chandler during the day. Then with the count one and one, Marion sliced the ball just over Etten's glove and down the right field foul line scoring Cooper.

The other St. Louis tally in the fifth temporarily tying the score, started with the silliest bonchhead of all. Sanders beat out a hit on a grounder which Gordon stopped in back of second base with a remarkable effort.

Bonham vs. Cooper or Brazie

First Baseman Etten, recruited from the Phillies this year by the Yanks, was enraged by the decision and threw the ball on the ground toward home plate and the Yankee dugout. While Dickey chased the ball, Sanders reached second. He moved to third on a long fly by Litwhiler and coasted home when Lanier dumped a single into short center.

The outcome of the contest was one which scarcely could satisfy the Yankees about the future of the series and left the Cardinals mostly in a state of silence.

"As far as its effect on the series is concerned, it put the two clubs

50,000 Tons of Pins Bowled Over in Year

KEESLER FIELD, Miss., Oct. 5 (AP)—Army statisticians here figure pin boys at the post bowling alley have picked up 50,000 tons of pins since the alley was installed a year ago.

Further bowling statistics show Keesler soldiers have rolled their bowling balls about 35,000 miles in approximately 175,000 games.

One hundred and twenty-eight teams competed in league play.

Will Meet Tomorrow

The Western Maryland Board of Approved Football Officials will hold a special meeting tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the K. of C. home to continue earlier discussions of the 1943 scholastic rules. Questionable plays of early games in the district will be submitted for uniform interpretation.

In exactly the same situation they occupied after the first game of the 1942 series at St. Louis, when the Yankees won only after a bad scare and when the Cardinals, although defeated, were far from convinced that they had lost to a better ball club.

For the second game which will be played here tomorrow, Manager Joe McCarthy nominated Ernie (Jumbo) Bonham, big right-hander who has won fifteen and lost eight, while Manager Billy Southworth said he would use Mort Cooper or Alpha Brazie, the latter a Rookie southpaw who came up in mid-July from Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League.

Cooper, who started twice in the last World Series and was hammered hard both times, has won twenty-one and lost eight this year while Brazie's record is eight and two.

The outcome of the game today did not contribute to any indications on Southworth's part. Before the contest started he said he would let the Yanks worry overnight about his second game pitcher, no matter which way the opening engagement turned out.

18-Horse Field Is Held Possible For Capitol 'Cap

Apache Is Doubtful Starter in Opening Feature at Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Oct. 5 (AP) — As many as eighteen horses appeared today to be likely starters in the $7,500 added Capitol handicap which will feature the opening day of the four Maryland tracks' consolidated meeting at Pimlico on Saturday.

The top-weighted thoroughbred of the thirty-five eligibles — Belair stud's Apache — was not expected to be shipped from New York in time for the six-furlong Capitol, but Racing Secretary Charles J. McLennan said that the six horses next on his list of weights could be regarded as possible starters.

Likely public choice of the opening day crowd, in the event Apache does not face the barrier, was Howe stable's Cassis, which has been assigned 125 pounds, just one under Apache.

Cassis is regarded as a likely starter, as are Woolford farm's Signator and T. D. Grimes's With Regards, both assigned 124 pounds; Mrs. J. B. Hatfield's Cherrydale, 116; Calumet farm's Quenies, 116; and Wexler's Best Reward, 115.

Others which McLennan listed as possible starters were Cape Cod, Defense, Pompton, First of All, New Moon, Chalamore, Adulator, Make-shift, Tellmone, Solure, Sassy Lady and High Command.

First of 29 Stake Races

The Capitol will be the first of twenty-nine stake races to be offered at Pimlico during the joint meeting to be conducted by Pimlico, Laurel Park, Bowie and Havre de Grace.

The twenty-nine stakes to be run during the Victory meeting have an aggregate added money value of $272,500. The non-stake races will have a minimum purse of $1,200 and $2,000 additional will be distributed daily to winners of claiming and allowance affairs.

The total purse distribution during the meeting will be $599,975 — just short of an average of $20,000 a day.

The richest stake of the season will probably be the Pimlico futurity, with $15,000 added, although the heaviest endorsement is carried by the Pimlico Special, with a $25,000 winner-take-all purse.

The richest stakes of the program are:

Tues., Oct. 12—The Laurel stakes for all ages, run at a mile and seventy yards; $10,000 added.

Sat., Oct. 16—The Havre de Grace handicap, for three-year-olds and up, run at a mile and a furlong; $15,000 added.

Wed., Oct. 20 — The Maryland-Potomac handicap, for three-year-olds and up, run at a mile and a furlong; $15,000 added.

Sat., Oct. 23 — The Washington handicap, for three-year-olds and up, run at a mile and three sixteenths; $20,000 added.

Selima Stakes Oct. 27

Wed., Oct. 27—The Selima stakes, for two-year-old fillies, run at a mile and one sixteenth; $10,000 added.

Thurs., Oct. 28 — The Eastern Shore handicap, for two-year-olds, run at six furlongs; $10,000 added.

Sat., Oct. 30—The Pimlico Special, for all ages, by invitation only, run at a mile and three-sixteenths; $25,000 winner-take-all.

Sat., Nov. 3 — The Pimlico futurity, for two-year-olds, run at a mile and one sixteenth; $15,000 added.

Sat., Nov. 6 — The Riggs handicap, for three-year-olds and up, run at a mile and three-sixteenths; $15,000 added.

Fri., Nov. 12 — The Walden stakes, for two-year-olds, run at a mile and one-sixteenth; $10,000 added.

Sat., Nov. 13 — The Bryan and O'Hara Memorial handicap, for three-year-olds and up, run at a mile and three-sixteenths; $15,000 added.

SERIES NOTES

By TED MEIER

YANKEE STADIUM—New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—A mere matter of some twelve inches prevented the Cards from tying the score at 4-4 in the seventh inning of today's opening game of the World Series.

With Ray Sanders on first and one out, Martin Marion belted one of Spud Chandler's curves on a line drive towards left. It looked like a sure homer, but at the last second the ball curved and went into the stands foul by a foot. Marion then grounded into a snappy doubleplay.

Four official errors and four more mistakes that don't show in the box score brought this comment from a Pittsburgh scribe: "This is more like the Phils and Athletics playing."

Today's hero: Joe Gordon, Yankee second baseman, who was a dismal failure in the series last year.

Today's goat: Walker Cooper, Cardinal catcher, whose running around in circles looking for the ball in the sixth inning let Frankie Crosetti score from second base with the winning run.

Gordon's eight assists equalled the series record held jointly by Herman Schaefer, of Detroit, (1907); Hal Janvin, Boston Red Sox (1916); Eddie Collins, Chicago White Sox (1917) and Bucky Harris, of Washington (1924). Incidentally, Harris watched the game from the press box.

"King Kong" Charley Keller, Yankee slugger, belted three drives into the right field stands during the pre-game batting practice, but the only one he poked into the seats during the game was a harmless foul.

Before the game, Third Base Coach Art Fletcher, of the Yanks, said he expected to direct plenty of traffic at the hot corner. He did.

Chandler threw 107 pitches in the nine innings, seventy-four strikes and thirty-three balls. Lanier threw 105 pitches in his seven innings on the mound, seventy-two strikes and thirty-three balls. Harry Brecheen threw nineteen pitches in his one inning, ten strikes and nine balls.

Chandler now has allowed only fourteen hits and six runs, two unearned, in twenty-two innings of World Series pitching.

Celanese Police Hold Elimination Shoot

The Celanese Police pistol squad held an elimination match yesterday on the Celanese range to select a five-man team to compete in a four-cornered match at Hagerstown tomorrow against the Fairchild, Pangborn and Moller guards.

Representing Celanese will be Stanley, 289 out of 300; Lohr, 286; Kelley, 282; Kennard, 266, and T. Taylor, 265. Seven others took part. They were Humphreys, 264; Murray, 260; R. Jones, 236; D. Taylor, 232; Frankfort, 232; Umberger, 218, and H. Myers, 209.

Notre Dame Wins No. 1 Spot in AP's First Grid Poll

Experts Apparently Agree Teams Are Either Good or Bad

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (AP) — One hundred and eight of the country's football experts apparently agree with Coach Howie Odell, of Yale, that the war has divided all teams into two leagues—those that are good and those that are not.

The experts, voting in the first of the Associated Press's weekly polls to determine the nation's ranking teams, definitely agreed that Notre Dame and Michigan deserved the one-two spots.

The two attracted eighty-nine of the first place votes while the remaining thirty-three teams to receive their consideration drew only nineteen firsts.

Army, Navy, Duke, Penn, Purdue, Iowa, Pre-Flight, Minnesota and Southern California completed the first ten in that order.

"Navy" Schools Dominate

All of the schools to make the select are "navy" schools except for the two service eleven and Iowa Pre-Flight which, however, also are manned by service personnel. Ohio State, last year's No. 1 team and an all-civilian outfit this year, dropped to eighteenth place in the first 1943 vote.

The present poll, which attracted the greatest first-week response in recent years, included service teams on the same plane as college outfits for the first time, making possible the appearance of the Iowa Pre-Flight Seahawks in eighth place.

Ten points was given for a first place vote, nine for second and so on with one vote going to a team receiving a tenth place ballot.

The leading eleven with total points (first place in parenthesis):

Notre Dame (53)	977
Michigan (36)	880
Army (4)	880
Navy (3)	631
Duke (4)	616
Penn (1)	434
Purdue (2)	392
Iowa Pre-Flight (2)	251
Minnesota (1)	237
Southern California (1)	179
Second ten: Southwestern (Tex.)	123
University 123, Great Lakes 112; Memphis Naval Air Technicians 95; Dartmouth 59; Del Monte Pre-Flight (2) 57; March Field 25; Louisiana State 24, Ohio State 23, Northwestern 18, College of Pacific 17.

Also rans: North Carolina 13, Colorado college 12, Georgia Tech 12, Washington 10, Holy Cross 8, Texas 8, North Texas Aggies 8, Tulsa 6, California 6, Princeton 2, St. Mary's Pre-Flight 1, Oklahoma 1, Texas Christian 1, Texas A and M 1, Georgia 1.

Providence, outpointed Jackie Wilson, 125½, Pittsburgh, (10).
New Haven, Conn.—Herman Badger, 171, New Haven, Conn., outpointed Aaron Eastman, 171, South Norwalk, Conn., (8).
Baltimore—Curtis Sheppard, 213, Pittsburgh, knocked out Wally Cross, 200, Newark, (11).
Springfield, Mass.—Sonny Horne, Niles, Ohio, outpointed Jerry Malone, Springfield, middleweights, (10).
Washington—Harry Jeffers, 130, Baltimore, outpointed Johnny Cockfield, 128, New York, (10).

WORLD SERIES PLAY-BY-PLAY

(By The Associated Press)

FIRST INNING

Cards — With the count two strikes and one ball, Klein lifted a lazy fly to Lindell in center field. Walker drove Stainback back almost to the right field wall with a long fly. Musial lined to Lindell in left center. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees — With the count two strikes and one ball, Stainback lined to Kurovski. Crosetti rolled to Marion and was thrown out. Johnson was called out on strikes. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

Cards — On the first pitch, W. Cooper bounced a single off Johnson's glove. Kurovski laid down a perfect bunt to sacrifice Cooper to second, Chandler to Gordon, who covered first. Sanders struck out. Litwhiler walked. Marion sliced a double over Etten's outstretched glove, scoring W. Cooper, but Litwhiler was thrown out at the plate. Stainback to Dickey. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees — Working the count to three and two, Keller lifted a high foul in the stands, but then was called out on strikes. Gordon bounced to Lanier who threw him out. Dickey grounded to Kurovski and was thrown out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING

Cards — Lanier was greeted by a cheer on his first appearance at bat, but grounded to Gordon who threw him out. Klein was thrown out by Gordon. Walker took a strike and then filed deep to Stainback. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees — Etten grounded out to Marion. Lindell struck out, but had to be thrown out. W. Cooper to Sanders. Chandler drove a clean single to left for the first hit off Lanier. Stainback struck out. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Cards — Musial rolled to Gordon and was thrown out. W. Cooper bounced to Crosetti and was tossed out. Gordon came over behind second to take Kurovski's hot grounder and threw him out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees — Crosetti rapped a roller which Klein took near first base and threw to Lanier in time for a putout, but Crosetti ran into Lanier on the bag and the pitcher dropped the ball. Crosetti was safe and Lanier charged with an error.

On the first pitch Crosetti stole second. Johnson bunted sending Crosetti to third. Sanders fielded the ball and was unable to tag Johnson or beat him to the bag. Keller grounded into a fast doubleplay, Klein to Marion to Sanders. Crosetti crossing the plate to tie the score.

With the count three balls and one strike, Gordon slammed a home run into the lower left field stands, 400 feet from the plate. Dickey popped to Marion. Two runs, two hits, one error, none left.

FIFTH INNING

Cards — Gordon ran over back of second to make a great stop of Sanders' grounder but his throw was too late to catch the runner and it was a hit. Etten, in indignation, threw the ball and it rolled almost to the Yankee dugout. Sanders raced to second. It was an error for Etten. Litwhiler filed deep to Lindell and Sanders went to third. Marion bounced to Gordon and was thrown out. Lanier looped a single

Bainbridge To Play Camp Lee Bulldogs

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Oct. 5 (AP) — An open date on the Bainbridge naval training station's football schedule was filled today when the Commodores announced they would meet the Camp Lee, Va., Bulldogs Sunday, Oct. 24, at Camp Lee.

Coach Joe Maniaci said this was the only Sunday tilt for Bainbridge and gives the Commodores a three-game schedule.

The Commodores meanwhile went through a brisk passing drill and an hour's scrimmage between the second and third units this afternoon in preparation for Saturday's game against Fort Monroe at Norfolk.

Buenos Aires Alters Wrestling Billing

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 5 (AP)—By order of the mayor, wrestling here will be known for what it is—wrestling.

Heretofore it traveled under the dignified English label of "catch-can." The mayor knew that was a misnomer but it took some time to find a suitable translation. Now wrestling must be advertised as "parodias de luchas," literal parodies on wrestling.

Cooper forced Musial, Johnson, Gordon. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Yankees—Harry Brecheen, rookie left-hander with a record of nine and six, went to the mound for the Cardinals. Johnson bounced to Brecheen and was thrown out. Keller lined a single into the right field corner. Gordon walked. Dickey struck out. Litwhiler came on a dead run to catch Etten sinking liner. No runs, one hit, errors, two left.

NINTH INNING

Cards—Kurovski filed to Crosetti. Sanders lined to Crosetti. Chandler threw out Litwhiler. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees—Lindell lifted a high fly to Walker in left center. Walker ran deep into left center to make a one-handed tumbling catch of Chandler's long fly. Stainback lined a single to left. Cro

New Musical Fantasy Will Be Offered Out of Chicago

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (AP)—More World series broadcasting is on the schedule for Wednesday. Again the game is at New York, so that means MBS will start on the air at 1:15 p. m., continuing through to the final out. The announcing crew will have the same lineup as for the opening game.

Out of Chicago for its late schedule CBS at 12:05 a. m. is starting a series to be called King Arthur's Court in 1943. It replaces the Forty Chicagoans and gets the classification of a musical fantasy.

Earlier in the evening at 9 on CBS Lionel Barrymore is observing the first year as mayor of the town. The program deals more with the problems of life rather than those of politics.

Feature from Canada

Further in the drama line, the Canadian network is sending to NBC at 11:30 p. m. a re-enactment of the building of the Alaska highway. It replaces Author's Playhouse for one time. Another NBC special at 7:30 is "Safety on the Job," intended to depict how accidents are prevented in a war plant.

With the current switching around on the networks, the 8:30 Wednesday half hour has become quite time on at least three of them. So instead of getting all of the possible quiz facts, the effect is to split it three ways. Here are the shows from which a choice has to be made individually: NBC Beat the Band, Blue Battle of the Sexes, MBS Take a Card.

Some Early Programs

NBC—12 noon Words and Music; 2:15 p. m. Serial Lonely Women; CBS—11 a. m. The Captivators; 2 p. m. Serial Dr. Malone (young); 3:15 News by Elizabeth Bernis; 5:30 Singing Along.

BLUE—12:30 p. m. Farm and Home program; 2:30 p. m. Ladies Be Seated by Ed East; 4 Blue Profile's minireels.

MBS—10:30 a. m. Shady Valley Folks; 1 p. m. Sydney Mosley comments; 5:15 Serial.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

Preparing Victory Garden Soil for Next Season

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Nearly every Victory gardener is making plans for a bigger and better vegetable garden for next season. And many tasks can be accomplished this fall which the busy gardener will find difficult to crowd into next spring's work schedule.

This is the time to improve the soil for next season. If the Victory garden soil proved troublesome this year because it was a heavy, clay type, the chances are it has become water-logged and will never give adequate garden results until it has been properly drained.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, pipe or the drainage is the method most commonly used for garden drainage. This year when it is almost impossible to purchase pipe, and difficult to obtain tile, an effective method of drainage calls for the digging of trenches, as illustrated, and then filling them in with rubble which will permit the water to run off.

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 5.—The 1943 tomato "pack" from Morgan county, one of the largest producers in this section, will be less than half of that produced in 1942 and one of the smallest in recent years, County Agent H. C. C. Wooley said today.

Magnesium constitutes 2.5 per cent of the earth's crust.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

A NEW SLAM CONVENTION
SOME FOLLOWERS of this department may recall a slam convention it presented a couple of years ago, whereby, after a suit fit had been shown or guaranteed by a force, either player's next bid could ask for ace-showing if it was the lowest possible bid which could not be in the suggested declaration. Response was on the next ranking declarations. After that, if the slam signaler then bid the lowest possible thing, he was asking for kings; and that could be carried on even to include queens. That principle now has been improved upon.

R. F. Gawryla, who with his wife won the Greenwich Village championship tournament in 1935 under direction of this department as his introduction to duplicate, aided in getting up the "Koenig System of Bidding at Duplicate Contract Bridge," sponsored by his business associate and bridge partner, Thomas W. Koenig, of Johnstown, Pa. In it is an amazingly interesting new slam convention, which enables the slam signaler to take his choice between asking about his partner's aces and kings, or showing his own.

It is startlingly simple. Used only immediately after one partner has made a forcing bid, the signal is four of a minor. If it is 4-Clubs, it says "I want to show you my slam controls." Partner's response of 4-Diamonds says "All right, show them." (Anything else would be a sign-off.)

Then come the showings as indicated above. Bidding 4-Hearts would mean "No ace," 4-Spades would show one, 4-No Trumps two, 5-Clubs three, the response made. Now the lowest possible next bid asks for kings, shown in like manner. Two are shown, so South bids the grand slam in No Trumps.

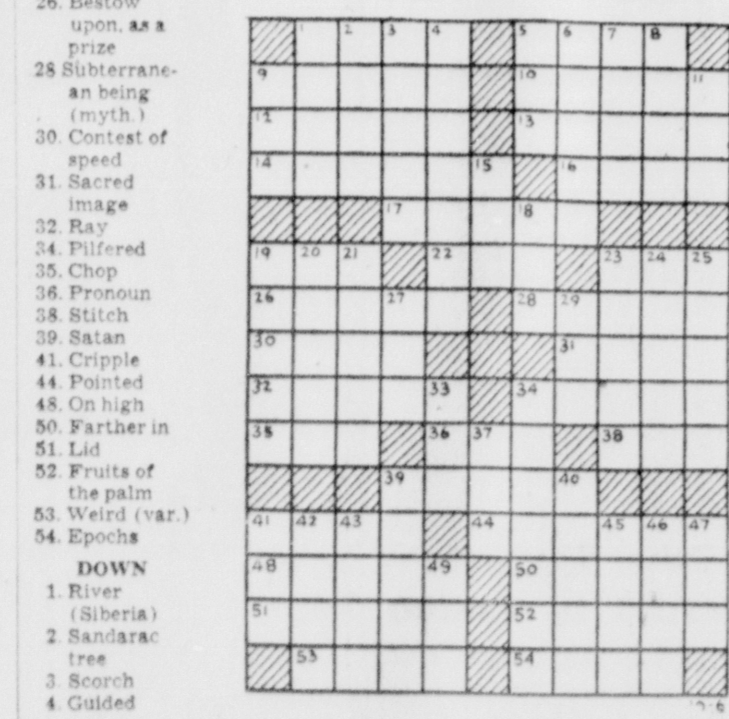

If North had wanted to ask about aces and kings instead of showing his own, his slam signal would have been 4-Diamonds instead of 4-Clubs.

You may hear a lot about this in the future. Why not try it out?

In loving memory of our dear father,
John M. Buckley, who died four years ago today, October 6, 1939.
Another long year, just four today,
since our dear father passed away;
And in that year we lost another
Our dearest friend, loved one our mother.
Now side by side at rest they sleep,
Gaily in our Savior's keep.
We miss them both, but God knows best,
And called them home to eternal rest.

Head of Salvage Division of WPB Visits Local Body

National and State Officials Praise Efforts of County Committee

Headed by Herbert M. Faust, recently appointed director of the salvage division of the War Production Board, national and state salvage officials attended a meeting of the Allegheny County Salvage Committee held last night at the home of W. Donald Smith, local chairman.

The meeting was the first of its kind attended by Faust since he was appointed director of the salvage division on September 10. Faust pointed out that the local meeting was selected for his first visit because the committee here "is doing an outstanding piece of work."

Small Contributions Help
Pointing out that there is only one New York, one Chicago and one Philadelphia, Faust intimated that small communities such as Cumberland play an especially large part in the salvage campaign. "The millions of dollars taken in each year by the New York suburbs," he explained, "is all nickels." Such small contributions all amount up to a large total, and the same is true of scrap, he indicated.

Visiting here with Faust were Eric H. Marks, deputy chief of the salvage section of WPB; James F. Solley, Jr., executive secretary of the Maryland State Salvage Committee; and C. Haller Herwig, assistant executive secretary of the Maryland Salvage Committee.

Speaking briefly, Marks pointed out that Allegheny county is leading the state in tin can collection per capita. "You're doing an outstanding job here," he told the committee, "and we wanted to see how you work."

Critical Paper Shortage
Because of the present scarcity of metal, Marks said it will be necessary to hold another metal salvage drive this fall to help carry the mills through the winter. There also is a critical paper shortage, he said, adding that it also will be necessary to hold a paper salvage campaign.

Solley said the local committee is a "standout in the state" and that "you haven't let us down yet. We can't say we've given you any direction because we just told you what we wanted done and you went ahead and did the job."

Members of the committee announced after the meeting that a paper salvage campaign and another tin can collection will be held here shortly. Further details on both drives will be announced at a later date, Smith, the local chairman, said.

Orthopedic Clinic Will Be Held Here October 15 and 16

Many Appointments Made with Crippled Children's League

Approximately 200 appointments have been scheduled for the regular fall orthopedic clinic of the Allegheny County Crippled Children's League to be held October 15 and 16. Miss Vivian Lambert, executive secretary, said yesterday.

The clinic will be held from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Friday and from 9 a. m. until 12 noon Saturday, in the league building, city hall plaza. Miss Lambert said, adding that no children will be examined unless an appointment is made. No one over 21 years of age will be examined.

The clinic will be conducted by Dr. George E. Bennett, Baltimore orthopedic surgeon, assisted by Dr. David M. Weinberg, also an orthopedic surgeon from Baltimore.

Miss Lambert reminded that parents of children to be examined should bring their shoe ration stamps with them to the clinic. Many of the children are wearing a special type of corrective shoe which may need changing after being checked. It is also possible, she said, that some of the new patients will need corrective shoes.

Dentists Elect New President
Dr. Emerson E. Loar, of Narrows Park, was elected president of the Allegheny-Garrett County Dental Society at the organization's regular meeting last night in Central Y. M. C. A. Dr. Loar succeeds Dr. H. R. Williams as head of the society.

Other officers elected were Dr. C. Wood Beachy, 416 Fayette street, vice-president; and Dr. Karl W. Kolb, 906 Bedford street, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Kolb was re-elected. Dr. Beachy succeeds Dr. W. H. Ryan.

Fourteen dentists attended the meeting.

Engineers To File Comprehensive Report on Flood Control by March 1

Local VFW Post Launches 1944 Membership Drive

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Army engineers expect to file a comprehensive report with recommendations for flood control, along both the upper and lower basins of the Potomac river by March 1, 1944. Randolph (D-WVa.) said today after he and Rep. Beall (R-Md.) had conferred with officials here.

"I think we are getting somewhere," Randolph declared, following the meeting with Col. S. Renshaw, district engineer, and Lt. Col. Byron Bird, chief of the engineering division, district engineers' office.

"We discussed flood control for the Potomac, from its headwaters to Washington," Randolph said. "We have been assured that the engineers' report and recommendations will be ready by March 1. Preliminary drawing have been completed already."

Randolph said the engineers' survey would consider not only flood control but also river pollution and other needs.

The two representatives, Randolph declared, endeavored to impress the engineers with the desirability of early action and cited flood damage done last year. Earlier this year, Randolph testified on the Potomac situation before the House Flood Control committee of which Beall is a member.

Earl R. Sellers Is Held in Black Market Probe

Three Men Give Bond of $500 Each in Gasoline Ration Coupon Case

Arrest and arraignment yesterday afternoon of Earl R. Sellers, Waverly terrace, on a charge of transferring fifty pages of illegal gasoline ration coupons, brought to a total of thirteen the number of men held by federal authorities in connection with a black market investigation here.

Sellers, a Celenese employ, was arrested after Carl Goetz, 50, Lehigh street, and Courtney H. Kessel, of Long, apprehended Monday by United States Deputy Marshal Howard P. Loughrie, had been arraigned before United States Commissioner Wilbur W. Wilson and released on bond of $500 each. Sellers, at his arraignment, also was released on bond of $500.

Kessel is charged with transferring fifteen pages of TT coupons, and Goetz is accused of transferring ten pages of TT coupons.

All three of the men arraigned yesterday are employed at the Celenese plant, officials said, adding that Goetz also had a part-time job as janitor at a local garage.

With the arrest of Sellers yesterday afternoon, police said they believe the round-up is ended "for the time being." All thirteen of the men arrested will face action of a federal grand jury in Baltimore within the next several weeks, officials added.

Police related yesterday they received reports that illegal gasoline ration coupons were being used as "money" in some pool rooms and gambling establishments here. They added that one man, arrested in the round-up, is said to have paid off gambling debts with ration books valued at $10 each, while selling other books to patrons in "social clubs" and similar establishments.

The black market in gasoline ration coupons was disclosed here three weeks ago with the arrest by federal authorities of Louis Waingold, North Mechanic street pawnbroker, as the alleged ringleader, and four other men. This past Saturday five more men were arraigned. Two more were picked up on Monday and one yesterday.

At least 2,000 volunteers in the Western Maryland area will be affected by the curtailment of the ground observation corps, including plane spotters, ordered this week by the army, according to Howard P. Loughrie, regional director of the air raid warning system.

For nearly two years, spotting stations have been maintained in Allegheny, Garrett and Washington counties, being manned day and night by men and women working in shifts. The de-mobilization order does not affect other units of the OCD system.

Named Inspector
Leo V. Chaney, formerly with the Queen City Dairy here, has been appointed to the staff of sanitary inspectors in Washington county by the State department of health. Chaney will assist C. S. Brinsfield, Jr., Washington county sanitary inspector, in daily inspection and other sanitation work.

Dairy Improvement Association Is Organized Here
Allegany, Mineral County Dairymen Elect Paul Yoder President

Paul Yoder, Pinto dairymen, was elected president of the Allegheny-Mineral County Dairy Herd Improvement Association which was organized at the county farm agent's office.

H. J. Barton, of Rawlins, was named vice-president and Joseph Pretzman, county farm agent in Keyser, W. Va., was elected secretary.

Organized for the purpose of aiding dairymen in determining the profitability of their herds and working toward improvement in herd growth and development, the association requires a membership of twenty-six. Twenty-one dairymen from the two counties signed up for membership last night and it was indicated that five or six more will join in the near future.

The qualified inspector who will spend one day each month with each dairy to test the cows and dairy products was not named, but is expected to be available for the beginning of the association's program next week.

The tester will be chosen by a board of directors composed of Yoder, Barton, W. H. Johnson, Cumberland; J. William Loar, Rawlins; and Samuel S. Smith, Keyser, W. Va.

Meeting with the association were George Hyatt, Jr., representing the Maryland state dairy department; G. E. Heebink, of the West Virginia state department; and Ralph P. McHenry, Allegheny county farm agent.

Increase Shown in Public's Part in Third War Loan

Bank Committee Reports 8,691 Individual Purchases in County

Public participation in Allegheny county in the Third War Loan drive surpassed that of the second campaign by approximately one-third according to individual sales reported through Saturday, Joseph M. Naughton, chairman of the bank activities committee, stated yesterday.

Including sales made at all banks but not by all other agencies, Saturday's totals revealed 8,691 individual buyers as compared to 6,667 in the second bond drive in April, a difference of 2,024 individual sales.

Sales Total $3,379,073.50
Purchases on Saturday, which was the final day for the sale of certain series of bonds, brought Allegheny county's total to $3,379,073.50, surpassing the $2,600,000 quota by $779,073.50. Totals from several agencies not associated with the banking committee are not included in these figures, Naughton pointed out.

Sale of series E, F and G bonds will continue until October 16 and will be included in the final report of the drive. The bank committee's report includes the amount of bonds purchased by national concerns operating in the county and allocated to the county's credit, the chairman said.

Commenting on the increased number of individual buyers, Naughton said that during the last week of the drive, it was apparent that people were buying bonds who had had no part in the previous campaigns and had not participated in the present drive until the closing days.

More Buying by Rank and File
There was much more buying by the rank and file of the people to reduce the threats of inflation and higher taxes, he added, stressing the fact that the purchases were made entirely by individuals and businesses and the banks were not allowed to subscribe.

The committee's report showed that in Garrett county, Saturday's sales brought the total to $201,236.25, representing 609 individual sales. The quota was $175,000. Chairman Naughton cited the work of the Grantsville Rotary Club as among the outstanding efforts made in Western Maryland. Taking over the campaign there, the club was responsible for 177 buyers of bonds totaling $47,175 during the month.

7 Volunteers Leave For Naval Training

Two of them, Heiman E. Harold, 53 Willow avenue, Keyser, W. Va., and Albert C. Keller, Westernport, will become Seabees.

Eleanor M. Perry Begins Red Cross Training Monday
Former Teacher Will Serve as Hospital Recreational Worker

Miss Eleanor M. Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Perry, 613 Sedgwick street, will leave Monday for American university, Washington, D. C., for basic training in the military and naval service of the American Red Cross.

Miss Perry will serve as a hospital recreational worker in one of the army or navy hospitals in the country for at least a month upon completion of her basic training and then will be transferred to another hospital in this country or to a base hospital overseas.

As a recreational worker Miss Perry will arrange for the recreation of wounded American soldiers and sailors, arrange parties, teach handicrafts and assist in improving the morale of the service men.

A graduate of Pennsylvania avenue high school, class of 1936, Miss Perry graduated in 1940 from Western Maryland where she majored in home economics.

Miss Perry was home economist for the Junket Folks last year and was home economics instructor in Fintstone high school from 1940 to 1942. For the past five years she has been a counselor in Girl Scout summer camps.

Officers of Lonaconing Legion Posts Are Installed by Kelly

Recruits Sought For Forest Fire Fighters Service

John R. Kelly, this city, Mountain District commander of the American Legion, last evening installed officers of James P. Love Post No. 92, American Legion, Lonaconing.

The newly installed officers are: William Rankin, commander; Earl Smith, first vice commander; Alexander Grove, second vice commander; Clarence Castle, adjutant; Oswald Baumann, finance officer; August Reichelt, sergeant at arms; Anne M. Sloan, chaplain, and Adam R. Muir, historian.

Every post of the Mountain district of the Legion was represented at the installation ceremonies. Among those present were Daniel F. McMullen, this city, past Maryland state department commander; Aleck Hesse, Oakland, district commander; Paul Weismiller, this city, district child welfare chairman.

Claude L. Deal, this city, district membership chairman; Albert M. Kerns, this city, district Americanism chairman; G. Ray Lippold, this city, district registration chairman; Howard P. Loughrie, this city, past Mountain District commander; Charles Smith, this city, commander of Port Cumberland post, and Karl Mayer, commander of the Frostburg Legion post.

Following the installation a chicken dinner was served by the ladies of the Legion. Most of the officers and guests gave informal talks after the dinner.

Effective Organization
Loss last spring of a number of PFPS volunteers by graduation makes it necessary to recruit new members at this time, Johnson pointed out. State Forester Joseph F. Taylor said that so effective has the organization been in forest fire control in Western Maryland, that state authorities cannot afford to have its ranks depleted at a time when fires seriously retard our war effort.

District Forester Johnson called attention to the fact that, besides high school students, the Forest Fire Fighters Service is open to older men, and he urges Western Maryland landowners to form groups for enrollment and training.

Twelve Hours of Training
Members of the PFPS will be required to complete satisfactorily a minimum of twelve hours of training, becoming eligible for certification. Experience and previous training may, in the judgment of the local co-ordinators, be substituted for the required training.

The training will be given by and will follow a plan prepared by the officers of the protection agency concerned. The amount of actual experience required of all members cannot be prescribed, but it will be such as to assure the competency of the fire fighters for the duties which they will be called on to perform.

Volunteers may obtain full information from the district forester's office, third floor, court house building.

State's Bonded Indebtedness Is Reduced
ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 5 (AP)—State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes reported today that Maryland's bonded indebtedness had decreased $4,315,000 during the twelve month period up to August 31.

The figure at the end of the second month of the current fiscal year, he said, was $31,559,000, while a year ago the indebtedness amounted to $35,874,000.

Tawes also said that the general funds surplus showed an increase of $3,993,061 during the twelve months, with the total at the end of August being $12,601,725.

A month previously, the general fund surplus stood at $13,832,565. The comptroller stated that cash on hand in the state treasury on August 31 last year amounted to $27,010,613, while on the same date this year the total was $31,345,939.

During the first two months of the current fiscal year, Tawes asserted, gasoline taxes totalled $1,499,107. This was a decrease from the $1,943,238 reported during the same period last year.

Disbursements from the general and special funds were $3,764,221 and $4,266,743, respectively, for the two months ended August 31. Tawes continued, while actual cash receipts for the respective funds were $3,716,948 and $4,339,031.

Comparative figures of important sources of state revenue for the first two months of the current fiscal period and July and August of last year were listed by Tawes. Taxes from corporations, $1,944,989 and $951,873; licenses, $1,376,454 and $1,602; motor vehicle licenses, etc., $280,945 and $316,262; alcoholic beverage taxes, $669,551 and $1,285,464; gasoline taxes, $1,499,107 and $1,943,238; income tax, $824,800 and $1,118,331; Maryland Racing Commission, $18,988 and $40,751.

Americans Desire Collaboration to Secure Peace

Speaker Tells Rotarians Public Opinion Put Congress on Spot

Americans in overwhelming majority desire some sort of international collaboration to secure world peace, according to Miss Louise Shaffer, of the History department of Frostburg State Teachers college.

It is for this reason, Miss Shaffer said in addressing Cumberland Rotarians yesterday at their weekly luncheon at the Central Y. M. C. A., that the House of Representatives adopted the Fulbright resolution and the Senate is preparing to take similar action. Congressmen, she said, have been put on the spot by the force of American public opinion.

Tracing the foreign relations of this nation from its beginning and noting that the policy represented by the Monroe doctrine was made possible by the backing of the British navy, Miss Shaffer declared that it became outmoded at the turn of this century when Germany developed naval competition, the Spanish-American war brought this nation Pacific commitments with Japan, aided by the United States, rose to a first rate power.

No Foreign Policy
Since then, the speaker said, the nation has had no foreign policy and world conditions and communications development have made need of one quite obvious. A major need, it was suggested, is a more democratic method of handling foreign affairs such as requiring ratification of treaties by a majority vote of both houses of Congress instead of the existing method of having a two-thirds Senate approval.

It is too late for that now, it was admitted, but as a temporary expedient it was suggested that a joint committee be appointed to formulate and guide a foreign policy, that to comprise the president, the secretaries of State, War and Navy and the chairman and ranking minority members of the Foreign Affairs committees of both houses of Congress.

Our State department is sluggish, out-of-time and operating in accordance with nineteenth century methods, Miss Shaffer said, and needs overhauling. Requirement, by law, of the appearance of the secretary of State on the floors of Congress for answering queries of foreign policy was one improvement suggested.

Need Intervention
For the world of tomorrow the speaker said there must be a long-term alliance by this nation with Britain, Russia and China; deliberate promotion of the principle of liberty throughout the world; intervention, such as would prevent support of such regimes as those of Vichy and Franco, and extension of economic warfare.

Three new members were introduced to the club: Capt. Robert S. Ball, of the Salvation Army, by Roy W. Eves; Kenneth E. Jackson, Boy Scout executive, by Leslie Heimer, and R. M. Hudak, manager of the Personnel department of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, by Porter D. Collins.

Kelly Employees Are Receiving Back Pay
Employees of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company are receiving checks averaging $60 and $105 covering back pay from February 12 to September 15.

The payments are being made according to officials of Local 25 Rubber Workers of America, by authority of a War Labor Board directive of September 4 providing for an hourly increase of four cents an hour for production workers and for six and seven cent increases for the mechanical force.

Average back pay checks for production workers will average $80 and for mechanical workers about $105, Local 26 officials said.

Part of the 4,000 to 5,000 persons affected by the order received checks yesterday. Workers on the second and third shifts will probably be paid today.

W. J. Shuck Held On Draft Charge
Jehovah's Witness Failed To Report to Local Board, Authorities Say

William Joseph Shuck, R. F. D. No. 1, Eckhart, was arrested by a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent and United States Deputy Marshal Howard P. Loughrie last night on a charge of failing to report to his local draft board after being notified to be there on September 15.

Authorities said Shuck is a member of Jehovah's Witnesses and failed to report to Local Board No. 4, at Frostburg.

The day after he failed to appear, Loughrie said, Shuck went to the board and told the clerk that he did not intend to report because it is against his religious convictions.

He was arrested at 9:30 p. m. in Lonaconing while visiting his girl friend, officers said.

Shuck will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Wilbur W. Wilson this morning.
